The Black Sciences

“Double, double toil and trouble; Fire bum, and cauldron bubble.” - Shakespeare, McBeth (Act IV, Scene I).

As we begin our adventure, all that I promise you is a simpler, coherent model of historical events and of seemingly science fiction but real physics with far better explanatory and predictive power all without using magic, demonic possessions, and poltergeists to explain it. Tear open the curtain of secrecy to reveal the small men playing God. Now we are off to see the wizard.

Disbelief is the common reaction

How is it possible? Most people can't escape their erroneous intuitive sense of the world. Mathematics is the language of truth. As Richard Feynman said, “if you aren't deeply disturbed by quantum mechanics, you clearly haven't understood it.” Relativity theory is inconceivable to most as a truth about the laws of time and space in our universe. Similarly people will have difficulties with superconductor Josephine sensors measuring a single quantum of energy or that your mental experiences are completely contained in the electrical properties of the brain.

Deciphering the brain code has been a primary research direction, the Holy Grail, for most neural scientists. And they are getting very close in the civilian world to completely deciphering it.

To help the skeptic reader open their mind to unbelievable scientific realities, let me illustrate some well documented feats of science. Would you have believed someone who said that a ball weighing a kilogram of an element could destroy an entire city before the nuclear bomb was demonstrated? If someone told you that a several ton metal tube could lift itself 30,000 feet above sea level on its own propulsion before airplanes became common, would you have believed them? Would you believe someone who claimed that they could view individual atoms, if you hadn't heard of an electron tunneling microscope? If NASA didn't post images of quasars near the edge of the known universe, would you believe that one could see 9 billion light years away (53 trillion miles away). Some people are still in disbelief that humans have walked on the moon. Many people use mobile phones but have no idea how they work. Golf ball sized objects are tracked from the ground in space orbit. Amateur microwave enthusiasts have bounced microwaves off the moon back to Earth (called Earth Moon Earth, EME). Even teleportation technology is working at a quantum scale with a phenomenon called quantum entanglement.

Scientific breakthroughs are always met with skeptism before the majority of the population has been exposed to the breakthrough. Wireless EEG cloning/heterodyning has been around for 30+ years but the selfishness and stupidity of the scientists and military figures involved for not seeing a more important global beneficial optima for releasing this technology for medical, commercial, and other uses has stymied and hindered the collective intelligence of the population from developing it. It is currently valued more for its spying and controlling capabilities against Americans and foreign interests.

TAM I, MIND, and SATAN

While active denial of even the acronym TEMPEST, which is well known in the defense industry, is still in effect, it is the standard known to determine how much electromagnetic shielding is needed to thwart an attempt at reading the energy from monitors, TVs, or computers at a distance and reconstructing the information. This is the TEMPEST standard for military labs. Many have offered insight into what it might stand for. The best one I found is “The Electro-Magnetic Probability Estimates of Safe Thresholds” for undetectibility 1 . These standards change with technology and guestimates on what sensitivity other countries have implemented. More satellites or bigger dishes, the more stringent the TEMPEST standards need to be.

MIND 2 is the acronym for the top secret project of electromagnetic mind control. It stands for “Magnetic Integrated Neuron Duplicator”. This is just a fancy phrase that means EEG cloning. TAMI stands for “Thought Amplifier and MIND Interface” 3 . It seems to be a second generation system built on top of MIND. The acronym for the kill mode weaponized software of this technology is SATAN, “Silent Assassination Through Amplified Neurons” 4 . While the CIA has a whole bag of “tricks” 5 to menticize people, the drugs can leave a trace of metabolic residue or a signature of damage that they leave in the body and brain. So SATAN has become the preferred method of silent assassination in the agencies with the best “plausible denial” rating.

Mind magicians, mood mystros, and electronic illusionists

My interest as a child in magic sparked the interest which I have in physics, science, and psychology. Trying to understand how mental errors of assumptions could be induced in an audience by slight of hand techniques and verbal cues was an astounding psychological trick to me. I loved solving the mysteries of every illusion and magic trick I have ever seen. This love of solving mysteries continued throughout my life. There are almost no “black boxes” left for me to understand. I have taken apart every appliance and machine ever made. Later in life, I wanted to understand the most complex pieces of machinery on the planet, humans. I have explored many fascinating minds from all walks of life and cultures on this planet except for one segment. Sociopathic, unquestioningly obedient or “SchadenFreude” 6 diseased people have eluded me on how they are created. I generally try to rid myself of negative people in my life. So this knowledge is something I did not seek, it found me.

Sociopaths occur both naturally from childhood traumas, genetics, or life experiences effecting people in unpredictable ways. Of interest to the CIA and some military divisions with assassins is how to create them. How can a Manchurian Candidate or programmed assassin be created is the question the MKULTRA mind control experiments help answer.

There have been many books written by survivors and experts in this area that I list in the appendix so I won’t go into every detail of the program that continues to this day. The basic steps that they use in the extreme can be experienced in milder forms such as boot camp in the military or cults. The only new twist to these horrific acts of experimentation and brutality to children and others destined by the corrupt elements in the government to perform programmed assassinations on command is that the MKULTRA programming can now be done completely wirelessly using TAMI, and various neural programming techniques. Less evidence, fewer memories, and more plausible denial makes this a great leap forward for the MKULTRA mind control chuckleheads who operate the systems and who are undoubtedly programmed using similar techniques.

For example if you believe the Columbine Shootings were caused by Marilyn Mason lyrics or hidden backwards messages on rock music like the investigation tried to finger, then why wouldn’t you believe that the military/CIA wouldn’t use Rock Music and subliminal programming to kill people. Their tactics and technology of mind control and subliminal persuasion is so much more advanced than these simple messaging techniques. You are naive to believe such things caused the shootings.

Please pay attention, ignore the man behind the curtain! This is how the mind melding works 7 . EEG Cloning (i.e. mind melding) or synchronizing of brainwaves has been known for half a century. The German Nazi scientists conducted countless brutal medical dissection on Jews. Not only were the Nazi’s close to building an atomic bomb but from these experiments they had figured out how to control the human mind with just electromagnetic energy. These scientists were divided up between the Russians and the US after WWII. They were brought over to the United States under project Paper Clip. For their loyalty they were forgiven for their war crimes. The U.S. and USSR began a new arms race. The first population wide system came online sometime between 1953 and 1960. These systems often are guised as over-the-horizon radar or ionosphere research projects.

“Any sufficiently advanced technology will appear like magic to a lesser technologically advanced civilization.” - Isaac Asimov

6 “SchadenFreude” means to take pleasure in others pain. Termed by the Germans during the Nazi regime. Sadomasochism would be the closest English word. Or more gently put, misery loves company.

7 Col. John Alexander can be seen quoted on this website that offers courses in EEG cloning and heterodyning using visual feedback of brainwaves. The most basic mode first discovered was a simple amplification of brain waves. There are a couple patents that describe this in detail in the patent office. By feeding back EEG like waveforms into the same brain one amplifies thoughts. There are two types of brain amplification. One amplifies the synaptic modulation and the other amplifies brain entrainments, i.e. inducing more neurons to join a firing group at each pass or presentation of a stimuli. This is apparent from the project acronyms, TAMI and SATAN. In this mode, one experiences sounds louder, vision brighter, and an ADD (attention deficient disorder) like condition. It also leads to a paranoid schizophrenic condition over time. It is a good way to "incapacitate a target" as the military literature describes. In the patents that define this system, they used directed microwaves. But now what happens if you instead amplify one persons EEG signals by some method into another person's brain? That person would begin to think like the person's whose brain waves were being cloned onto him. They in fact by all intensive purposes, become that person to a great extent. I'll leave the philosophy of this up to others. These people who have this done to them by choice or force are called "psychics". It turns out that there are many methods and biochemical and biophysical mechanisms to induce synchronized brain entrainments. Three recent Sony patents use Ultrasonics to transfer the energy and signals. Other researchers have used magnetic coils, and electromagnetic frequencies that seem to traverse the spectrum up through microwaves. Even the modes of neural pathway induction vary from pulsed waveforms encoded by the pulse duration and timings to continuous ELF amplitude and phase modulated signals. It appears from the literature that many things work. Even sound and light flashing can entrance or entrain peoples' brains to follow the simple patterns.

Now the third big area of research for the CIA in the past that leaves one scratching their heads as why our tax dollars would be going towards that endeavor is splitting personalities. Splitting personalities was a mechanism used to create and control the old fashioned mind slave spies 8 9 . The CIA call themselves handlers of these people.

But interestingly enough, the effect of a hive mind is to create what appears to be a split personality if one didn't look behind the curtain to see who was pulling the levers. The hive mind EEG cloning experiments involve 2-6 people typically in a test cell 10 . Cloning someone's mind onto someone else changes their personality and behavior. But in the best conditions, the entire body and will are taken over. "Forced speech" is one of the unsettling capabilities of the technology and the term used by people who have been given demonstrations of it. The best way to describe what a neural link feels like in a medium intensity cloning signal, is it is a cell phone call with the callers voice, emotion, and some physical urges transferred while they speak. This is why many victims "talk to themselves". They actually are talking to someone else. With cell phone head sets getting smaller, more people are being accused of being crazy or being psychic. If the target does not move his/her mouth when the other people talk but he/she talks back by using his/her mouth, he/she is said to be talking to him/herself as psychologists describe. But if the person moves their mouth in sync with the speech from the cloner due to the

cloning link intensity, they have multiple personalities according to the shrinks. In a strange way, they do have separate personalities. The neural modulation from the external cloning signal conveys certain aspects of the transferred brain entrainments. However, the target's "sense of self' is not usual lost due to the external cloning signal and the other "person" is still perceived as separate much like how one doesn't get confused by a telephone conversation. Now, what if someone used voice transformation software and threw your own voice while you were talking on the phone using an ear piece, could your mind get confused as to what was said by "you" and your sense of self blurred?

Everyone gets a different subset of involuntary experiments conducted on them but only a few get the whole shebang. The patterns are obvious. I am no Sherlock Homes and I solved this age old riddle in less than six months of interviewing people. Don't tell me that the most inept FBI agent investigating these "x-files" couldn't have solved it. The corruption and conspiracy are very real in this country.

Mind magicians use slight of mind tricks through strategic distractions. The government uses this technique all the time. The Iraq war is somewhat of a planned distraction away from what is happening domestically. More overtly, there have been many examples where strategic media leaks occur in order to change the focus of attention of the nation. Bush used it when he got caught with his NSA scandal; he tried to focus the attention on the whistle blowers rather than his illegal domestic spying practices. Even the NSA domestic spying scandal can be viewed as a charade compared to psychic spying and torturing of thousands of Americans. It pales in comparison as a news worthy topic.

symptoms. By reconfiguring the hive mind into a tree like structure of EEG influence, the shared brain waves are more manageable. Also after spending a lot of time adapting to each others thoughts, there is less mental conflict. However as a weapon, the tactic of diverting a thought of a target can be extremely useful in controlling their decisions or actions.

Stupid Alien Tricks

Laughter is the best medicine. It helps us emotionally cope with potentially uncomfortable situations and slowly integrate disturbing new information. So, throughout our voyage we will be periodically entertained by the ship of fools in a segment called "Stupid Alien Tricks."

The first and most important stupid alien trick is to make the target think that the aliens have the capability to cause heart attacks or strokes. T his is almost a universal prank and was used on Saddam H ussein in 1992 according to U SA T oday. Remember that with EEG heterodyning (the Electromagnetic M atrix), you only die if you believe that you can die. It is the panic and paranoia that causes the heart to race ever faster and causes the target to do irrational things dangerous to them self.

I know magicians are never supposed to reveal their tricks but here is how it is done.

D uring an attack, the brain waves of the attacker are more strongly amplified onto the target and the target's brain waves are only lightly amplified into the attacker. Simply by the psychic assailant pressing on their chest, spinning in their chair, and being out of shape and having their heart rate speed up from spinning in their chair, these sensations feel very scary to the target. T hey feel their heart pounding out of their chest. They feel the pain in their chest. And they are getting dizzy. The assailants can even make their left arm numb or cold by putting it in water to further the illusion. All the sensations are amplified into the target's mind. T here will be more detail on this “remote controlled heart attack” methodology later in the book, that was first described by Russian 'psychics' back in the 1970’s.

T he psychic army needs to practice on civilians because in my case the attacker thought the heart was in the right side of the chest. This spoiled the illusion for me. Silly Aliens, tricks are for kids.

Brain Mapping and Normalization Software

You can get free brain mapping software from open source forums. The trick here is to align brain signatures. If the same stimulus is given to two individuals their whole brain patterns will be close but different enough that it may make them incompatible for raw EEG heterodyning. Let’s say a word is presented to two humans with similar cultures, their brains will produce similar wave forms for the given frequencies of interest and cascading sequences. That is the key. One must analyze the time sequence of the cognitive model. A famous example of this is called the multiple segment truck backing up problem. I used back propagation neural networks to demonstrate it. The exact mathematical modeling doesn’t matter as much as one would think. As Steven Wolfram concludes in his book,”A New Kind of Science”, computation equivalence gives rise to the exact same subjective manifestation or model that we experience as consciousness.

The cover of this book shows a mock graphical presentation of the DoD’s brain mapping application. The only screen shot that I nearly exactly replicated was the psychic warfare training program nicknamed, “The pain game”. The others I doctored to improve on their design.

Brain Signal Filtering Software

The other amazing technology that they have been working on for EEG heterodyning is brain wave sequence filtering. Clearly when you mind meld with someone and you are the interrogator, you don’t want them to read your bluffs or information from your brain. So they have developed frequency time filters to isolate types of brain information from being transferred. I am happy to report that they are still very flawed, and certain scanning and probing techniques that I will explain in detail in my next book work quite well at hacking the hacker’s mind.

“The Science Channel” produced a documentary called “Spied R Us”. It has an episode on the CIA methods of hacking the human mind. But in that episode you will see the slight of hand technique so often used. They talk about putting a video camera on flying model airplanes for surveillance around corners as a new CIA investment. This is to mislead people how advanced the state of the art actually is. I have a model airplane I built 15 years ago that does the same thing. There is a mechanical dragon fly in the CIA museum from 1970 that was a working spy cam. This is how your tax dollars are wasted just to mislead you, because you can't be trusted. Without the cloak and dagger ego currency for the boys that never grow up, how could they motivate this army of retards to attack their own people for weapons' data.

The Psychic Wars

I can't believe my business school classmates at Dartmouth would joke about how smart I was by asking me if I have been bending any spoons lately with my mind and now I am writing about psychic wars. Truth is stranger than fiction.

One objective of psychic attacks or more accurately called EEG heterodyning attacks is to screw up someone's visual perception. This is done by the EEG cloner almost always unbeknownst to the target. The psychic soldiers practice this mental trickery routinely in psychic war games conducted on people worldwide and talked about by Dr. Becker in a CNN interview on these weapons back in the 80's. I have been able to compile a comprehensive list of practiced illusions from my countless interviews with test subjects around the U.S. and the demonstration I was given. Referring to the Malech Patent by Dorn and Company, the apparatus can detect if someone is hallucinating or cause hallucinations in them.

The black magic practiced by the psychic warriors is mostly illusions and tricks of the mind. The game of psychic soldiers is to cause errors in thinking and perceiving. When brain waves are mixed (i.e. heterodyned) any auditory or visual misperceptions, i.e. errors, are transferred to the target. So psychic soldiers practice perceiving visual errors. Like one who stares at an autostereogram (see cover of book), if you relax your eye gaze, the dots below in the picture form a 3-d pattern in your brain. This is an error of perception because there is no real object there. Oddly enough, this is what it takes to be a psychic attack soldier. In a near sensory deprivation setting, the heterodyned attacker sees in his mind's eye the same visual scene as the target. By focusing on bringing objects into the foreground that are normally in the background causes a parallax visual perception error in the target. This can be devastating while driving since only road markers can be seen as cues to stay on the road at night. Flying at night like JFK Jr. did would pose another serious risk of disorientation. The attacker can also cross their eyes or focus on perceiving movement visually to disorient the target. You can try this yourself by turning your T.V. onto a station with just white noise. If you practice and concentrate you can see the noise moving in any direction you want or cause other spinning patterns and such that are not truly there. It is almost purely random visual noise but your expectations of what you think you should see cause the visual processing algorithms in your brain to converge on a faulty solution of the ill-posed 11 vision problem.

If the connection is strong, shadows and fully conjured images can be overlaid into the target's visual cortex. A strong connection depends on many factors discussed later.

11 Ill-Posed is a class of mathematical problems that have multiple solutions depending on initial assumptions.

Another capability of the system “is to drive the target crazy with voices” as one colonel published. This is like having a crying baby and a cell phone you can’t turn off duck taped to each ear. If the conversation is bad enough it could drive someone crazy over time. Another Colonel said, “If you can project voices into the enemy, I will talk them to their death.” More likely to be used during a Holy War, is being able to fake “the voice of God” as the weapons capability is often termed and order them to lay down their arms or kill their comrades. More useful are the subliminal suggestions that can influence their actions and opinions without them being fully aware of the influence.

We have gone so deep into the hole following this stupid white rabbit ~ that we have almost reached HELL .

Stupid Alien Tricks

So, I admit it. I fell for it. Almost every victim tries the same defensive shielding approaches at great cost. Part of the strategy of the weapons testers is to deplete the victims of financial resources while by forcing the victims to spend all their money on defense research. One of the shielding approaches that everyone thinks of is a Laraday Cage. It is supposed to stop low frequency electric fields but as one find’s out cell phones work in them so they can’t be that effective.

Anyway, once I was completely contained in my Laraday Cage the abusive testers said, “Look, we caged our human animal. Now the real experiments can begin.” I have to admit that I laughed aloud. They indeed have imprisoned me both physically and mentally now. Score one for the Aliens.

12 “Chasing The White Rabbit” is a metaphor used to describe informational warfare tactics that leads the target through an infinite chase of false information in order to incapacitate their ability to gather intelligence and act on it.

Examples of Electronic Warfare capabilities and Other Types of Directed Energy

The same RADAR and global surveillance grid of directed energy can be used for many other purposes than just human nervous system manipulation and disruption. Just through a satellite signal the many segments of the U.S. power grid could be taken out. One capability that my EEG heterodyned experimenters told me about was that not only can they capture all electronic device signals and play them back like car locks, alarm systems and garage door openers is that they can simultaneously hack all garage door opening systems in the U.S. causing a power surge that will shut down power in many metropolitan cities, especially California where consumption is at a critical capacity. Or they could set off all car alarms systems simultaneous causing havoc. They even are working on testing a theory that they will blame on cyber terrorists. A computer virus that turns the computer into a radio frequency emitter that can hack external systems like garage doors at a specific time to see if they can cause a massive power outage with just a computer virus. The Russians were blamed for the computer virus called Satan 666 that was to cause heart arrhythmias by sending psychotronic signals through a computer monitor, but I suspect it came from the same source as most domestic espionage. Remember the game, more terrorism, more fear, more money and power for the defense industry.

But more disturbingly, these power obsessed agents bragged about how other Star Wars Initiative weapons they have access to could destroy most life on Earth. How, by systematically burning down all the world's forests and suffocating much of the life that requires oxygen. I'm sure it is true since making powerful CO 2 lasers that can start fires up to two miles away can be done by hobbyists 14 . But don't fear, the aliens have nukes that could do it much quicker anyway. In addition Oxygen can be manufactured artificially.

The military has documents that discuss hacking 802.1 lb wireless standard from their communications command structures. So even if your computer isn't connected to the internet, if you leave your wireless link on, the tax dollar funded crooks can hack you. The first week when I was "abducted" someone started hacking my computers from an SID 15 of "AngelNet". I put trip wires in my system to see what they were looking for. They eneded up purging 7 years of my digital life. Obviously "AngelNet" could have been a reference to the book,"Angels Don't Play This HAARP" and they were boldly saying that the HAARP antenna field has the ability to hack and read computers in this hemisphere. I assumed at the time it was a neighbor within 100 feet of my dwelling who was hacking my system as I watched them. I hate cyber terrorists and 'psychoterrorists' 16 . I am extremely disappointed that the majority of terrorism and psychos can be tracked right back to the CIA/DoD shadow government.

In order to test their abilities to intercept mobile phone communication and scramble it, the aliens exercise their power in several ways with the integrated signal and communication intelligence systems. Their cell phone jammers work quite well. Most victims describe no matter how often they move, this scenario occurs. They choose a location and check to make sure it gets great mobile phone reception, once they move in their mobile phone reception drops to zero after a week.

My neurally linked brethren enjoyed telling me when I was about to receive a call on my phone or they would tell me that I missed a call and often who it was. Other capabilities demonstrated on me for example, one time when I called myself to record license plates of alien paparazzi (stalkers) on my voicemail, they told me to listen to the messages that I left myself. To my amazement, they had scrambled the packets from my phone to the message center. It was like every quarter second the voice information was reversed. So I sounded like I was speaking an alien language and the content was unintelligible for all of the messages. This capability was used in Operation Desert Storm on Iraqi Generals with voice transformation software to mimic other Generals.

Back to unraveling “The Matrix” metaphor. In the movie the heroes would get pulled out of electromagnetic matrix by a phone call. The reason for this is because the technology is based on the CIA program RHIC, remote hypnotic intra-cerebral control. The loud startling ringing of a phone breaks the hypnotic spell temporarily and pulls one out of the electromagnetic matrix world. Hypnosis is used both as a weapon and a necessary synchronized state for a strong bi¬ directional neural link.

Aliens suck! We need to capture and dissent them to see what makes them so evil and sociopathic if we are to stop the spread of this cultural virus, this disease of the collective consciousness.

Architecture of “The Matrix”

During the experiments, the data collectors perform tests of sentence completion and prediction probabilities. In another mode of TAMI, what sounds like multiple threads simultaneously running, about ten to twenty possible completions of your precognitive thoughts or partially begun sentences are spoken back to you. They called these programs mimicants. Each one completed the thought or sentence differently. It was like a matrix of probabilities of previous sentence patterns used to guess l ik e fill-in-the-blank sentence completion on the SATs. It sounded exactly like the scene in “The Matrix” where Neo meets the architect. I have worked in both industry and for the Department of Defense on pattern recognition systems and artificial intelligence. I recognized much of my own type of work in TAMI’s algorithms. Every classification category has a confidence metric associated with it. Sentence completion, word, image and object recognition, etc., works on the same principles. Rather than just speaking back to the target the most probable speech pattern for completion, the top ten responses were spoken back simultaneously. My mind seems to be too complex for their sentence completion algorithms to accurate forecast, and almost every “thought sonarization” was incorrect, but close enough for government work.

Resonant Feed Forward Neural Network for Speech Recognition

If you aren’t a geek you may want to skip this section. There are many artificial neural network models. One popular one is called back propagation. Speech recognition software often uses classification algorithms called Markov Modeling. All statistical classification algorithms have slightly different tradeoffs in terms of ease of programming, invariance, and necessary training dataset size.

There are two interesting observations to point out with TAMI. The Stanford Research Institute demonstrated an EEG inner voice recognition system back in the 70s. It classified certain brainwaves of a person’s thinking about speaking a word and it recognized the phonetic decomposition and spoke it aloud from a computer. This technology went black for several decades.

Sequential Brain Wave Entrainments for Speech Recognition in the Wernick center of the human brain.

The other discovery for civilian scientists I would like to emphasize during the technology transfer demonstration for me by the DoD/CIA is that language, words, and sentences are created from time sequenced frequency “modes”. That means that word understanding is a combination of sound perception (possibly induced by the microwave hearing effect) at the primitive level and the state of prior presentations of the brain phonetic recognition resonant frequencies. So this means that the understanding of language only requires the correct sequence of induced currents in the brain based on achieving the new resonant state and not dependent on the exact timing between each state transition for the final recognition of a word. This is intuitive based on Markov models and resonant neural network state dependent model theory. (This is where the output of the neural network is looped back as the next state or inputs into the beginning of the network.}

Demonstrations of precognitive phoneme 17 , word, and sentence classification, a subsystem of TAMI

People speak in fairly predictable sentence patterns. The sentence predictor software learns an individual’s sentence patterns over months of training samples, correlating the precognitive word formations with the actual utterances. This system is a demonstration of precognitive recognition and classification of intent and would allow split second faster reaction times if it were a physical intention that was being predicted. The Navy has done the most research in this area in regards to reading EEG signals for faster reaction times. However, this software’s actual purpose is to be used to help with “locking on” to a host mind by helping the psychic soldier begin the same cognitive and linguistic brain patterns as the host so as to synchronize the entrainments more precisely. That is the main goal for psychic warriors. Better they become at “locking on”, adapting their minds to the host, the more control they have over the host mind, will, and then body and better they can experience the targets thoughts, i.e. mind reading.

The system repeats phrases over and over again to lock the host mind into that linguistic pattern until the host and target minds match above some threshold.

Here is a screen shot inside the US psychic war room, I mean the Borg Cube. The waveform on the left is some visual transformation of the psychic attacker’s brain entrainments and activity and the one on the right is the target. The graph in the middle below is a differential overlay of the two people and useful as visual feedback for the cloning army 19 solider to acquire a lock on 20 .

EEG synchronization visual tool.

When the wave forms are the same, the combined match flat lines and that is a perfect EEG clone. Once the two targets are synchronized it is difficult to break the lock.

For a personality type that is not in the human MIND database, EEG cloning takes a while to occur. The target unbeknownst to them are receiving the modulated brain signals of the attacker and vice versa. The neural networks of the combined mind begin to self organize the shared data. In addition to the self organizing feature of neural networks, the software behind the scenes is doing autocorrelation with some human intervention to map and align the variances of the two minds to speed along the process to full cloning capability.

One simple method of breaking the cloning lock involves word games. By speaking nonsensical sentences that can't be predicted by the software and that the other person must think about to understand, the mind patterns separate for a brief time until the psychic attacker can reacquire the host brain patterns. Bilingual speakers can break the lock by switching to another language. Inner voice conversations which are difficult if not impossible to avoid, strengthens the link increasing all the shared perceptions, especially higher order mental functions like concepts. This is one of the main purposes of what is termed "voice to skull" - . Longer a lock can be broken or disrupted, the more time it takes for it to be reacquired. See the section on Anti-Psychotronic Theory for technologies that help break this lock.

Neuromarketing has appeared many times in innovation and then disappeared. If the microwave hearing effect can be used to pipe in voice commands directly into the subconscious mind, you can imagine how powerful a marketing tool it would be. But for now, the DoD and intelligence communities circle around like vultures to intimidate any who works on such technologies. This is still a forbidden area of research. You must go abroad to work on it.

Elisa and Natural Language Processing Using Phonemes From Brain Waves.

The MKULTRA – programming also adds an element of automation to creating your private purgatory. Elisa was a computer program back in the 70's which demonstrated artificial intelligence. It acted like a psychologist and asked stupid questions and responded to answers. It would parse and understand sentences. This field is called (NLP - natural language processing not to be confused with NLP - neural linguistic programming). Elisa fooled about half the people who communicated with it into believing it was a real human being on the other end. Now, fast forward 35 years and instead of parsing natural language phrases from keystrokes, it recognizes phonetic brain waves and parses them into words and sentences for artificial intelligence and natural language processing. This was demonstrated by the Stanford Research Institute in the 70's. Now the tortures and menticizations can scale to entire populations through this automation. I call one of TAMI's functions, a sentence stimulator. Lor many of the test subjects, they describe the conversations in their head as very artificial and with almost no intelligence and very repetitive and limited in terms of topics of discussion. This would describe about the current state of the art. Artificial intelligence and natural language processing were other areas of interest that I studied at Harvard. I worked on a program that was to show emotion based on the probable frustration level of the computer user (which was based on the frequency of errors and crashes). The brain wave cognitive Elisa, adds realism by inducing an empathetic emotion with the words that the target feels. This adds a new dimension of convincing information that the synthetic mind virus is a real person.

Neural Linguistic Programming (NLP) was first introduced into the Army and pursued as a weapon by the infamous Col. John Alexander. These brain washing 21 Like with all the technologies surrounding psychic warfare, purposeful brand confusion was introduced. More terms that describe the same technology or experience, the more difficult the information is to convey and slower the spread of knowledge of these top secret torture experiments to the masses. Synthetic telepathy, voice-to-skull,v2k,voice-of-god, neural linking, neural telemetry, microwave hearing effect - all roughly are terms that describe the same capability of the weapons system.

22 MKULTRA is a very old CIA program for mind control and creating assassins and spies. Tens of thousands of Americans have gone through it. Despite countless attempts by Congress to stop it, it continues to this day. It involves months to years of brutal torture to break the human spirit.

techniques fit quite intuitively into the capabilities of TAMI. I endured about 2 months of this kind of repetitive programming which basically consists of repetitive overt suggestion very similar to a technique called psychic driving invented by the CIA paid torture specialist Dr. E. Cameron.. It wasn’t very effective on me, so I’m not very impressed by the technique and think that “NLP masters” are joke profession. However the national anthem “psychically driven” at every sporting event seems to work quite well.

However, due to the large numbers of people that this is done to and the often full time aspect of the constant babble, it would make sense that they would switch over the live hive mind participants to an automated system so that they could move on while both maintaining the illusion of a live neural link and a “psychosis” that never heals. Then only a single moderator would be needed to monitor the interactions of several targets in case the link failed for any number of reasons.

Synthetic Telepathy

Phoneme recognition uses some brain waves from the premotor cortex for tongue, mouth, and throat and the audio cortex recall to be amplified and rebroadcast into another mind which is then perceived as speech and sound. It turns out that speech is not encrypted in the brain as much as one would think. There is a direct mapping between sound recall and speech phonemes with their audio wave analogue. This was first demonstrated with EEG probes at the Stanford Research Institute.

Design Flaws with TAMI

TAMI has a voice recognition interface that the EEG cloners use during collection of internal sentences for training TAMI’s precognitive sentence prediction software. The Cloner’s would say “Shut up TAMI!” as a computer voice recognized phrase, in order to increase the recognition threshold confidences. The problem with the interface design is that the attacker can be hacked by the target. The system does not distinguish between any of the internal voices of the collective hind mind. See hacking the eye gaze tracker interface.

System Flaws with TAMI

As with any system where a signal is amplified and fed back to the sensor, oscillations can occur known as feedback. This also applies to amplified brain waves. They are working on finding fixes for these feedback conditions. Two examples can be found in synthetic telepathy. The first kind of feedback loop occurs at the phrase level where a decaying echo of the phrase is heard and repeated. The second one is at a sound perception level. Almost everyone who is EEG heterodyned and not just cloned, hears a tinnitus at some point. If a psychic cloner is just replicating your brain waves onto his, there is no feedback loop. Feedback only occurs when the psychic is trying to influence you in a two way brain entrainment lock. The tinnitus is caused by several signals, but the loudest steady state tone is due to the feedback loop generated from the host's hearing, being amplified to the parasite and mixed with his brainwaves, and then amplified again and sent back to the host. The feedback frequency is usually around 11,111 hertz. Like with a microphone too close to a speaker, they have come up with some unusual ways to break the feedback loop. The feedback is automatically detected and a strong secondary pulsing frequency is injected that is slightly off the feedback frequency, which over powers the conscious focus on the feedback base frequency. This slight change of attention in the brain, dampens the tinnitus frequency attenuation and returns the signals to controlled levels and synthetic telepathy can again be heard.

This flaw can be a point of detection and defense. Using a tone generator, a target can identify his/her feedback frequency. Playing an overpowering sound at the tinnitus frequency with various modulations, preferably into each ear, will lock into place the feedback loop thereby rendering a voice to skull attack void. However, the annoying high pitch ring is distracting and could still cause some decreased attention to tasks at hand. Another method the weapons designers came up with, is to distract the targets attention from the feedback frequency using body jerks. A sequence of small, random limb jerks automatically begins when the feedback frequency is maintained for a few seconds.

This too can dampen the brain wave amplification of that signal in order to regain two way communications. The brain signals of sound perception that are causing feedback are a transformation of actual frequencies so the appropriateness of the analogy of a microphone too close to the speaker is limited.

Even longer time frame feedback loops exist in heterodyned hive minds. Everyone has encountered something like this while just walking down the street. You see an oncoming pedestrian and you veer to the left. At the same time, the pedestrian veers to his right. You then respond by correcting the other way, and in return he does too. You find yourselves in a comedic dance with a stranger.

Most victims of government practice torture and kill programs die unnatural deaths from car crashes, heart attacks, suicide, and cancer that the weapons test program managers justify mostly as secondary effects from the testing. While there are many purposeful attempts to make people crash, most crashes are probably caused by secondary effects. Driving while talking on the cell phone has been compared to being legally drunk in terms of increased risks due to the distraction. Similarly, voice to skull harassment is a much more profound distraction with proportionately increased risks. But an anomalous feedback loop of physical intentions also occurs, decreasing the ability of a target to operate a plane or vehicle properly. EEG hive mind participants share almost every desire from hunger to scratching an itch. When one person is driving and pressing on the gas or brake pedal, the other people in the hive mind have the urge to tap their foot. Their urge to tap their foot is amplified back to the driver who then presses harder or softer on the gas. It leads to a very jerky ride. It is the same comedic dance that occurs with pedestrians avoiding each other. In engineering this feedback system is called resonance or instability due to under dampening of the signal.

In response to these higher level brain patterned resonances, brain wave filtering methods are being developed to dampen all these abnormalities that occur in the most wasteful and unnatural configurations of brains currently being researched, called EEG cloned hive minds. This is how your tax dollars are being wasted and keeping the aliens on welfare.

Stupid Alien Tricks

The Aliens often amused themselves by leaving clues in their words spoken to their projects. One of the phrases they repeated over and over again to me was, “You are the one!” This is a clear reference to Neo in the movie The Matrix , who everyone referred to as the one. Neo was the one whom the Oracle prophesized would save the humans from the machines. Well as I conducted more research, to my surprise the pitch of my newly acquired tinnitus was exactly 11,111. The aliens laughed at my discovery and it was never mentioned again. I hate aliens.

{Screen Shot of SATAN’S 23 GUT 4 - eye gaze tracking interface. To start up a torture the eyes drag the menu item to a sand box area that activate it. Another menu on the sand box shows a menu list ofcdl active tortures and by selecting one and dragging it back to the other menu area it is deactivated.}

The lettering on the pull down menu items have a cryptic language on them. It looks like a combination of Russian, Greek, English, Egyptian, Japanese, and Chinese characters with a hieroglyphic twist. Remember the matrix code that drips down the screen? For each menu item in the eye gaze interface, there is a unique blend of symbols derived from the various languages of the planet. It was created so that it can be used by and on any nationality in the world without clues to the real country of origin doing the attacking in case there is a visual filter breech and the target sees the screen. That is why it looks both alien and native. The matrix code characters which stream down the screen are really just the pull down menus expanding and then submenus expanding with this language independent interface. Interesting to see how it was interpreted in the movie. (See the document in the appendix on NASA’s mind control program with children.) NASA conducted mind control on children as testified by an astronaut. The children who are grown up now were involved in MKULTRA like programs and have recovered most of their memories. One child says that they were trained to read “intergalactic symbols” developed by NASA for the purpose of communicating with extraterrestrial civilizations. It is these symbols that are used on the SATAN torture and psychic warfare interface that I have seen and approximated in the screen shots in the movie, “The Matrix”. They were not developed for speaking to extraterrestrial aliens, but just the evil ones born here on Earth.

Capabilities and Uses of TAM I, SATAN, and MIND Remote Controlled Heart Attacks - Don't Panic!

There are two methods used to induce heart attacks by electromagnetic energy. Here is the trick behind the first method of remote controlled heart attacks and how you can defend against them. It was theorized by Russian scientists that a runaway adrenal panic process in conjunction with stimulating the heart to beat faster and causing some vasoconstriction could lead to a heart attack. This was done on me several times where I passed out on one occasion but I am young and healthy. It would definitely work on the elderly. It is mostly a head game. It is true that they can speed up the heart rate with EEG brain waves (many of the brain waves are above 60 hz) and they can cause vasoconstriction but the designer of us in his great wisdom made it nearly impossible for our minds, even in extreme fear and panic, to kill the body or literally to be scared to death. The best motto for an EEG clone remote control heart attack attempt is, "If it is satanic, don't panic!" If you know how the effect works and you have Beta Blockers or Valium on hand, it will be impossible for them to accomplish it. They will cause imaginary heart pains. They will make your left arm feel cold and numb. Check your pulse; it will be within tolerable limits. It is merely a trick to make you think they have this capability. Beta blockers block the signal from the brain that will increase the heart rate. Many people suffer "panic attacks" that they mistake for heart attacks and call an ambulance. I would bet that when all is known in 20 or 30 years on these mass experiments on the public that "panic attacks" will drop off significantly because most are caused by the weapons testing groups without the microwave hearing effect telling them what is happening.

All the 'voice to skull' attacks on people are scripted performances by the human effects weapons testers. They follow the exact same series of events with just the details tailored to the individual. It is very advantageous to the humans that the machine is predictable and uncreative. Here are the main points of panic that they will use against a victim who hasn't read this book.

1. "Your brain is being fried by microwaves". There is a 5% increase risk for brain and other cancers for these experiments according to my government sources but this is insignificant compare to the number of years of your life they take through the stress of believing they are cooking you.

2. Once you understand what EEG cloning is, you can see how ridiculous these big bad psychic attackers really are. Everything you feel, they feel amplified and vice versa. They have developed a few brain wave filters for certain types of brain activity but on the most part, you both are of one single mixed mind. So they might say, "We are giving you a stroke." You will feel a strange sensation like

25 The adrenal medulla consists of masses of neurons that are part of the sympathetic branch of the autonomic nervous system. Instead of releasing their neurotransmitters at a synapse, these neurons release them into the blood. Thus, although part of the nervous system, the adrenal medulla functions as an endocrine gland.

what you might imagine as blood leaking into your head. While in reality, the psychic attacker puts water on his/her hands and is dampening their scalp. It really is this pathetic. This is like when children pretend they are breaking eggs on other children's head by slowly running their fingers in a spreading gelatinous mess like motion.

3. "We are cooking your heart muscle". The psychic attackers press on their chest or play a prerecorded heart ache to further this illusion of mind. Remember in these mind control experiments, it is only brain waves that are being manipulated no matter how real anything feels. You can't trust any of your senses.

4. "We are going to kill your entire family and all your friends if you tell anyone." Quite the opposite is true, informing a few trusted friends what is happening would more likely keep you from disappearing without a trace. Do not go to the police or FBI. They will lock you up in the psych ward. That probably should go for all rape victims, mental rapes or physical. Most authorities are not smart enough or educated enough to understand the physics behind these weapons so don't bother trying to update them. Many hundreds have tried and failed. You will learn in time, that all the threats made by synthetic telepathy from guys probably based in Virginia are empty.

5. If they are able to raise your sensitivity levels to paranoid through the stalking program and threats, you will begin to attribute every bad luck event in your life to them. This creates an illusion that they have lots of power over your life. Be logical and practice double checking your conclusions.

6. "We have the police in our pockets and they will plant drugs on you." While there are a few CIA and other agents posing as California Highway Patrol that might do that, there is still no reason to panic because there is nothing you can do to avoid that level of corruption. Deal with it if it happens the best you can.

7. Also, once they have you believing that they are going to destroy everything in your life that you value, your mind starts thinking of ways they might do it. EEG cloning allows the psychic attackers to read every little fear that crosses your mind and they are trained to use them against you. Remember that. Practiced positive thinking can help thwart this kind of attack of using your own mind against you 26 .

8. Visual imagery of daemons and such that victims report as holograms or materializations are often used to frighten the more superstitious and religious types. This is the traditional haunting and ghost imagery method.

I do not want to take away from the fact that the prolonged experimental process is incredibly debilitating due both to the constant various pain and a severe distraction of noise piped into your head. It will to say the least ruin your life as you had planned it. But you need to accept your temporary slavery status, and move towards educating more people. The mass information streams have been locked up, so grass roots efforts and some creative thinking is needed to scale and spread this information. Remember the Hitch Hiker's Guide to the Galaxy's advice, "Don't Panic!"

26 This is how your "own private purgatory" is created, as Bush's spokesman so articulately threatened the Republicans.

The second method of remote controlled heart attacks is more direct. The heart, like the brain, uses patterns of electrical signals to maintain its function. Disrupting the regular electrical pattern can under certain circumstances cause fibrillation or over prolonged periods, heart arrhythmias. Precisely timed pulses or electrical resonance modulation of the heart will cause the heart to skip a beat and decrease the overall compression force of each stroke. These more direct methods can be thwarted with a thick leather jacket many test survivors have stated. Leather acts like an external skin and absorbs much of the radar energy before entering the body. However, I was a bit cocky during these remote assassination attempts and let them do their worst for five hours until they gave up and were convinced that this method was not enough to work on me. These are the weapons of silent assassination being touted as “non lethal” because their dial-in-effects kill settings are still not satisfactorily predictable.

Staying Alive

To keep this story interesting, I’ll share with you what I did to ensure my survival. When my brutal attack began, I fought to stay alive. As most do, I thought that maybe it was a foreign country behind it. After all, I worked on secret projects a decade earlier. I wrote the code to track the Soviet Nuclear Submarine Fleet amongst many other government projects. Several times they said they would kill me through a remote controlled heart attack if I didn’t obey or tell them what they wanted to know. I lie on the ground and said I will die for my country to keep what secrets you want. You can imagine the betrayal I felt when I did some basic research.

So, I wrote a clever computer virus. It was polymorphic and encrypted so that there was no string a viral scanner could easily identify and the code kept mutating. I put it on a server that would release it upon my death. The virus was not malicious, it merely directed every computer it infected to a web page that briefly told the plight of thousands in long duration brutal MKULTRA mind control experimentation using EEG heterodyning. It would remove itself and leave the computer with an inoculant. The server that was to release the virus had to be pinged in a special way by my laptop within a two week count down. It is not illegal to write or study viruses, it is only illegal to release them. But if I were dead, why would I care? This threat might have kept me alive until this book was published. I have since deleted the virus. However, I have asked the publisher to put into my contract, that upon my untimely death, incarceration, or disappearance, the copyright of this book is revoked and the work becomes free to distribute to the public. For one who studied economics, they would know the consequences of the price demand curve for free products. This book is surely an entertaining read whether you are capable of grasping the depravity of our government and the complexity of the truth or simply read it as a fictitious Orwellian style prank.

The Russians were very open about their research using psychocorrectional methods to try to help alcoholics and drug addicts. The research was very successful. The US studied just the reverse. They pinpointed the brainwaves of addictions and can amplify those pathways to cause self destructive behaviors. Most people have heard that there is a high percentage of schizophrenics that smoke. The majority of assassination practice targets that smoke told me that they didn't smoke before the targeting began. In only one case did I find someone who they wanted to stop smoking as a form of control and they did. Creating alcoholics, smokers, and drug addicts are pull down menu items of the SATAN software. Killing the witnesses with an early death always helps when in twenty years the brutal crimes are revealed and there is no one alive to describe them in detail from a personal account once the mass news media is ready to interview.

EDOM and False Memory Implant Techniques

Another CIA program that was released to the public many decades ago and is very much wrapped up into the current exapsion of directed energy weapons testing on US citizens was called, EDOM (electronic dissolution of memories). It is a technique to accelerate memory decay of previously stored memories and to block short term memory from becoming long term memory. The theory is to supply many new stimuli to the memory pathways thereby, according to neural network theory, overload the network through excessive training samples and thereby decay the information contained in the network. Basically, it is over stimulation of the brain. The short term memory block is a method like hypnosis to entrain the brain at a base frequency that it is not normally accustomed to operating at. Memories are stored at this new frequency rate which with hypnotic suggestion can be segmented and blocked from access under the normal brain wave patterns. This is why hypnosis can recover memories from children who were abused under the MKUTLRA mind control program. This phenomenon is also observed with psychoactive drugs and is called state dependent memory.

Implanting false memories is done by forcing a memory recall through verbal cues or forced recorded EEG patterns and then revising it with new imagery and associations. Once the false memory has been created, it needs to be reinforced through multiple recalls. Practice makes perfect. In my opinion this technique doesn't work very well on most people. I only encountered a small number who were severely programmed with false memory implants.

Another method of memory erasure uses the "grown" virtual neurons. Memories are stored holographically and wholistically in the brain's synaptic weights not as engrams or single cell instances. If/when the plug is pulled on the biocommunication signal, the virtual neurons that help store memories disappear too and information formed during the connection will be very significantly degraded. There will be more on this topic in the Biocommunication Chapter.

"I do begin to have bloody thoughts."

Shakespeare, The Tempest, 4. 1

Another purpose of the extreme torture of people, is to examine the angriest thoughts a person can have and what that person can think of doing to the people and government behind it in their greatest moments of despair. It is a way of seeing what others with extreme hatred of the U.S. might come up with. My almost finished book on “101 ways to take over the world in 99 days” might have been another reason I was chosen for this kind of mind probing. And finally, it is a way to test whether they have locked up and controlled all the information streams to reach the public. A victim of torture and assassination will quickly realize no one will believe the random acts of long duration brutality and that there is no one in the government that will help them. I have found other governments to be far more receptive in wanting to learn about the U.S.’s current state of the art mind control weapons “that officially don’t exist” and the CIA interrogation and brain washing techniques “that are not used on random citizens” therefore I could not be divulging any national secrets officially. You can see how dumb this whole thing is. If they are trying to keep secrets from their potential enemies, why is it that they demonstrate all their capabilities on people who then would seek asylum in another country? It is obvious that the only people they are keeping secrets from is the U.S. public.

The Making of a Manchurian Candidate

The making of a Manchurian Candidate or CIA programmed assassin” :

• Isolation and sensory deprivation

• Complete breakdown of their happiness until they reach despair

• Removal of personality, ego, and sense of individuality through depatterning and humiliation

• Fragmentation of personality through torture

• Desensitization of violence through imagery and example

• Reprogramming fragmented personalities through hypnosis, psychic driving, and Skinnerian techniques to be triggered by words or induced electromagnetically

I caution you not to try this at home. But ironically now, all these steps are done in one’s home using the various mind control scripts and biocomminication weapons system. The current program isn’t all that different from the movie, “Clockwork Orange”, except they try to make the psychopathic killer rather than cure one.

in an understandable way to the general reader. I will never be able to reach their level of teaching but I would like to explain one technique of how brain waves can be read and influenced by electromagnetic energy. As it turns out there are many ways in which this seemingly science fiction feat can be done. I will explain a few of them based on patents from the 60’s and 70’s and then expand on some of those ideas.

Let’s start with the Malech patent. He never describes the underlying theory as to why his invention works, he just described how to build it and what applications it might be useful for.

Imagine the brain being a complex mesh of switches. Initially, let us assume that they are all connected. We then have a structure that can be analogized to a wire mesh. When electromagnetic waves of the electrical resonance frequency of the wire mesh strike it, it absorbs the energy and begins to oscillate like an antenna on your car radio. This is how radar works by looking at what frequencies bounce back, scatter, get absorbed, or pass through an object. So like a swing that was pushed, it will oscillate back and forth in the electromagnetic spectrum rather than the potential energy spectrum. That oscillation eventually dampens and is converted to kinetic thermal energy. If we disconnect one of the wires in our mesh by throwing a relay, the resonance frequency changes abruptly. It would be like changing the length of the swing’s ropes, or when an ice skater pulls in their arms while in a twirl to spin faster. So simply by observing the changes of oscillations of a swing set, we would know the length of the ropes holding it. Or simply by measuring the changes in our oscillating wire mesh, we would know how many switches were connected at any time.

Now let us unravel the analogy back to brains. The brain resonates at roughly 450- 800 MHz in adults depending on many factors. Basic microwave communication hobbyists have known this for many decades. So if we look at the neuron and what gives rise to the electrical and magnetic fields in the brain, we see that the voltage sensitive sodium ion gates open and close during the depolarization process. The ion currents act like wired electrical currents and the gates act as switches turning on and off the currents. So the brain, like our wire mesh example above, will resonate according to the state of the ion gates. The phase, amplitude, and frequency of the changing resonance of the brain gives all the information about the brain’s ion gates. The return radar signal tells where, when, and how many of these switches are closed and open. This is true with all objects and electrical appliances.

Another way to view the problem of reading brain waves at a distance would be to look at the magnetic properties of electron flow. If you model the brain as a coil with inductance, putting a magnetic field near it will change the resonance of the coil or induce a current in it. Ionic flows create magnetic fields which would change the brains inductance properties. It is just two sides of the same coin. There is only one force in the universe with many expressions of it due to dimensional dilation that we observe as electric, magnetic, weak, strong, and gravity.

So it is not a great scientific mystery how the brain’s electrical activity can be read through RADAR nor the heart beating through whole body or organ resonance in a similar fashion. Other additional signal processing methods like Doppler RADAR adds another perspective. Even muscle contractions have similar ionic switches that can be measured. Disinformation agents, like Dr. Delgado, Col. Bearden, and Col. Alexander, would like you to believe their versions of science so you can join the ranks of the unenlightened but don’t fall for it. The certain government agencies that like to keep secrets from the cattle they are testing their weapons on, will do or say anything to keep these secrets of basic physics. It isn’t surprising that a major defense contractor in microwave antenna design rediscovered a mind reading and influencing RADAR technique given that they are experts with antenna resonance designs.

Now for the more unintuitive part. It has become common folklore in culture that brain waves can not be read by satellites. The people who claim this and the other technology secrets have been exiled to the land of paranoids and the “mentally ill”.

While satellites are used for the infrared imaging and visual imaging portions of the integrated global surveillance system, they are not the most probable source and antenna for reading of human biosignatures. The disinformation agents have been so successful with this campaign that the mere mention of the technology to government agencies will have you locked up in a psych ward for three days to add insult to injury for those experimented on.

Let’s look at the mathematics and physics behind this possibility though. Perhaps the uneducated and programmed within the policing function or justice system can understand some basic mathematics and physics and come to another conclusion.

Just using back of the envelop calculations we can show the feasibility of these technologies being done by a constellation of satellites or a large phased array of terrestrial antenna.

Fact #1: SQuID transformers have a sensitivity of 10' 15 Teslas or 10 32 Joules. They can measure the smallest detectable change in a second” or equivalently the work required to raise a single electron 1 millimeter in the Earth’s gravitational field.

Fact #2: There are over 100 satellites available for remote sensing the terrestrial landscape in the sky at any time.

Fact #3: We will use 1000 miles as the average Earth orbiting micro constellation of spy satellites’ average altitude. Satellites orbit between 600 miles to 28,000 miles above the Earth.

Fact #4: The brain gives off a few femto-Teslas of magnetic flux. The heart gives off 50,000 fT. A depolarizing neuron at its surface creates 70 millivolts and an average ionic current of_Amps. The brains electrical activity at the surface of the scalp is in tens of micro Volts.

Fact #5: A small dipole antenna (piece of metal) cut to operate at 402Mhz like the ones removed from many “alien ” abductees radiates 2.5milliWatts from the head and 1.25milliWatts if implanted in the chest if that person is radiated with 1 Watt of power . Biotelemetry and neural telemetry are well studied fields but science fiction to the general public. Cell phones deliver 5 Watts to the head. And peak pulse power of “alien” signals I have been told deliver 30 Watts to the human body but average power levels are still within SAR 1 safe thresholds.

First let’s approach it from an implant perspective. Also assume we know the exact location of the target of interest. Since there are so many target tracking methods used in the military systems, this is a reasonable assumption. 2.5×10 3 Watts will weaken by the square of the distance if radiated equally in all directions. So the needed sensitivity by a satellite would be

~ s Based on Heisenberg Uncertainty Principle and Planck’s constant.

29 I am being facetious by referring to the inhumane, subhuman experimenters as aliens.

(2.5 x 10 7(1000 miles x 1.6 1 29 x 10 3 meters/mile) 2) x 100 satellites

= 9.61xl0' 14 Watts or 9.61xl0“ 14 Joules per second.

So that’s within 15 orders of magnitude plausible. Or one could state that in the PentaHertz wavelength(lxl0' 15 seconds) enough energy could be detected. That extends all the way into the ultraviolet spectrum. That’s an easy feat with just one SQuID transformer satellite. In fact just a constellation of large antennas would do the trick. But triangulation “ precision would be a must. With 100 satellites, you could precisely pinpoint and track that person and read the brainwaves or heartbeat with “alien” biotelemetric antenna implants. But I remind you, that ground based mile long phased arrays bounced off the ionosphere is the most likely source since superconductivity was not discovered until after the first government neurological torture testing began in the early 1960’s.

So how can so many people be monitored and tracked by such a system? If the source is correct, 25 million people can be tracked and controlled through the brain/machine interface. If brain waves don’t extend much beyond 2 Kilohertz, then a time multiplexing scheme like what cellular phone transmitters use would work. 25 million * 2 Kilohertz = 50 Gigahertz for the upper bandwidth requirements. Currently published RADAR capabilities go into the Terahertz frequency range or sub-millimeter wavelength well within the bandwidth required. In fact the entirety of human intelligence of the planet without compression operates at 1.34 Terahertz (6.7 Billion people * 2 Kilohertz).

In the last few decades implants have become less popular with the subhumans and aliens for their experimentation. In “the x-files”, Scully, removed her alien implant and got cancer shortly afterwards. Was that a threat by the aliens to the implanted human slaves? “The shadow government will kill you with plausible denial if you remove the implants,” I think is the undertone. I am happy to report that I have seen and met with many victims of government torture and mind control experimentation that have removed their implants with only beneficial results. Makes you proud to be in the land of the free to know this stupidity and corruption still exists at higher levels today than when they were feeding radiation to people and dosing them with LSD randomly.

So can bio and neural telemetry be done without an implanted dipole or microstrip antenna? RFID chips have shrunk to the size of a grain of rice. But, are they necessary at all?

No, not according to full spectrum RADAR signature analysis or according to the Malech Patent. Just the changes in the brain resonances due to ion channeling is easily detectable from a return signal from these RADAR and other surveillance method sources with many orders of magnitude sensitivity to spare. The math does not lie no matter how unintuitive it is. You can get a sense of the sensitivity of the technology just by observing the edges of the universe (9 billion light years away) with pictures from the Hubble space telescope.

You can get a hold of infrared imaging done during battle in Iraq on the internet. These images show the thermal heat of bodies causing photon emissions due to thermal instabilities with vibrating molecules. There is no RADAR energy pulse to light them up. It is not necessary in that part of the spectrum. You can clearly see the person’s entire body lit up at great distances due to black body radiation. Now imagine that the body electricity caused the body to heat slightly in proportion to the voltage at the surface of the skin. This isn’t true but the thought experiment will help you understand what the images would look like for the surveillance operators. You would very easily see the person flickering in the infrared spectrum and be able to demodulate the intensity of the flickering into brain waves, heart beat, and muscle flexing. Well, this is what is happening in other parts of the spectrum that we don’t usually see as an image. That is what can be seen by the giant eye reflected in the sky. That is what is meant by full spectrum imaging. It provides an incredibly clear view of all energy emissions from every point on the landscape when energy in every frequency is directed at it. The entire Earth is viewed this way. All life forms can easily be tracked. Using the signatures of all the waves lengths as well as body/brain resonances and heart beat rhythm, individuals can be tracked anywhere. Everyone has a unique body resonance signature, heart beat signature, and brain wave print. No RFID chip or dipole antenna is needed anymore to do biotelemetry. Another point of reference to RADAR sensitivity can be seen with commercial weather satellite RADAR which can detect birds or even insects.

It is so frustrating to see such ignorance amongst the psychology community, policing community, and FBI. It is difficult to get people up to speed in science and technology if they don’t have an interest and are already biased or programmed with disinformation. Psychic warfare has been going on for four decades mostly practiced on the citizens. Using the psychology community to discredit victims of the practice kills and mind control programming, they have successfully been able to keep the truth of the technology under wraps and a taboo to even mention without the immediate conditioned response of that person is crazy who dares speak of cutting edge neural telemetry and psychophysics. If all these groups of people live long enough, they will see in 24 years the technology will be suddenly discovered or released by the DoD. “Maybe we were wrong about all those people pleading for help,” might cross their minds. “I wasted my career misdiagnosing all those people,” might be another thought. “I didn’t serve justice or uphold the constitution. What a waste of life I was,” perhaps might be thought by some others.

Stupid Alien Tricks

This childish government assassin, I mean evil alien, would often say, “Quit hitting yourself.” And then he would slap himself lightly which would make me slap myself lightly. Remember when you were a kid wrestling with someone stronger than you and they would grab your arm and make you hit yourself? Yes, the aliens enjoy that game too and doing it remotely. This capability probably inspired the movie, “Fight Club.”

EEG heterodyning is the ghost in the military machine

Just in case you are still wondering why we have terrorism at all or why we are called the “great SATAN” by many countries, just be reminded of articles published in major newspapers such as the Feb. 14, 1992 USA Today, who reported allegations by Saddam Hussein that the CIA targeted him: “the CIA used psychotronics and biocommunication to cause a blood clot in the brain or heart…”. We even have laws that say we can not assassinate leaders of other countries. We have turned into a criminal state in which Congress is impotent to enforce the laws without an army of their own.

SATAN (silent assassination through amplified neurons) has many applications for pissing people off and creating life long enemies. Even the European Parliament documented this fact about the psychological effects of psychotronics after Desert Storm. Almost every country in the world is aware of the U.S.’s use of psychotronic weapons around the world except U.S. citizens. Sadly, our government has decided to make us the most uneducated and politically ignorant nation of the so called first world countries through an embarrassing public education system and perpetual lying to us “due to national security”.

We have all sorts of laws that say the CIA and NS A can’t spy on US citizens and human experimentation is banned, but who can enforce the laws if the executive branch is corrupt, illegal, and illegitimate?

Classification of non-lethal directed energy weapons

It is such a joke to call an ineffective killing weapon non-lethal. It is like classifying guns as non-lethal because the bullet doesn’t kill the person. It is all the hemorrhaging that does. The bleeding is a secondary effect. EEG cloning and non-lethal directed energy weapons do the same thing just over a much longer time frame and much more painfully. It is like trying to kill someone with a butter knife. It is more difficult, takes a lot longer, and will hurt a hell of a lot more.

More System Flaws with TAM!

In the world of psychic warfare, things are not black or white. Compatibility of minds, time spent locked on for adapting, a database brain match, and susceptibility of the target to the power levels of directed energy all are factors in the successfulness of a psychic attack. For example, bilingual victims have all reported that if they start speaking another language, the psychic attackers can’t understand what they are saying nor can the AI 33 language recognition system correctly predict their sentences. This is only true for fairly fluent people who don’t need to translate the meanings of words in their heads.

Attacking the chain of command

Let’s ponder the power of EEG heterodyning as a weapon. In a hierarchy of command where people can not question authority, how many people’s minds would you have to influence to take control of the whole structure? One. Everyone else's orders come from him/her. This assumes that no one is bold enough to question the orders of course. So military command structures are extremely vulnerable to a take over. There are few safe guards to watch them or question them especially if the secrecy directive is used. How many people need to be controlled or influenced to take over Congress? How about the judicial branch? Not many, and the whole country would then follow suit. The masses might get suspicious if things seemed too unusual and not in line with the constitution. So you might need to take over the media. How many mass news information streams are there? So the Russians were right. If you could control less than 10,000 people maybe even fewer than 2,000 people, you could steer the direction of the whole country. Is it smart to keep this technology a secret from the population so that they can't recognize the symptoms of a takeover? Is it smart to not build zero emission superconducting shelters in case of an attack on the public? Who is defending us? Why the f— do we have a military and security agencies who can't do their jobs? Is it incompetence, or treason?

Other Limitations of TAMI 34

When I was brain napped, I was told that I had to slow down my thinking, speak in complete sentences, and think aloud in words. Apparently my brain was of interest because when they EEG cloned my mind onto theirs, they could only pick up vision, sound, and the senses but not my higher level thoughts. They were interested in mapping my brain waves more completely to add to their database. Having a fast mind means that there is not time for the amplification of the brain entrainments to be induced in the psychic spy. This is also somewhat true with vision. If one scans the surroundings quickly, the cloner sees a blurring of images.

Why was the movie, "The Matrix" called that? Is it a reference to the "Global Grid" to which several colonels I worked with for DARPA projects refer? Isn't the global grid just the internet of networked information? I believe it is a reference to the image matrix calculated with MRI/ESR techniques. Like I mentioned before, I found a Yale Professor who has been doing Earth Gauss intensity MRIs since the late 60's. Generally high powered superconducting magnets are used in hospital MRIs. This is because they need high resolution and fast imaging techniques. Under a weak magnetic field the same principles apply but the time to acquire an image is greater and the resolution is far less . But you could map out the entire Earth this way especially if you combine it with RADAR techniques.

Perhaps it is a reference to the matrix algebra that is used for hyper fast complex algorithms such as calculating a cognitive model of the human brain.

Perhaps the movie, “The Matrix” was named from interferometry techniques. If you intersect 3 perpendicular coherent, linearly polarized electromagnetic sources, you create a matrix of constructive and destructive interference patterns. Altering the frequencies would cause the matrix to roll or scan. A multifrequency RADAR imaging that tries to balance the return signal from all directions of a target by increasing the strength of the signals accordingly would create “scalar” waves or an invisible electromagnetic interferometric matrix all around the target.

This is a diagram of two point wave sources. Notice the matrix of waves that interfere with each other. Ground hugging low frequency waves can travel over the horizon too.

Directed Energy

There is a medical instrument called “The Gamma Knife” used to focus x-rays from all angles around the head to burn tumors in the brain without cutting open the skull. At the intersection of these gamma rays, the energy is intense enough to kill the tumor cells while harmlessly passing through the other brain matter. Only at the intersection is the combined energy deadly. GPS (global positioning system) works on the same principle except one calculates position from the timing of the satellite pulses which arrive at slightly different times.

GODS = Global Orbiting Directed-energy System. Aka - The Death Star, “Star Wars Initiative”

2MW * 100 satellites * (a beam width of 1/100 of 360degrees) = 454 mw of pulse peek power over a large area. Shrink the beam width to 1/1000 of 360degrees) = 45 watts of power over that area. This is more than plenty to affect neurons. The Russian radio electronics institutes published back in the 70’s that with only lOmwatts up to 100 mw/cm A 2 of microwave energy, they observed all kinds of different effects on the firing groups of neurons. Again this back of the envelope calculation says it is quite possible to have satellite based neurological weapons. At first blush it sounded like Star Wars science fiction, didn’t it? However, this was just an exercise. Satellites are better sensors than powerful emitters. It would make more sense to use giant radar fields known as ionospheric heaters to bounce their phased 10 gigawatt energy fields off the atmosphere back to spots on Earth.

Similarly, one could use extremely high powered directed energy weapons from satellites to converge their energy onto one point using phased array beam steering or high powered masers. Ignoring the obvious assassination application, it can be used to increase the resolution of MRI/ESR and other imaging techniques. At the intersection, the phase/frequency/amplitude is calculated such that the full energy for a duration of time is maximized in the magnetic field by modulating a very low sideband and destructively heterodyning the beams high frequency carriers. During that increased magnetic field another radio or higher frequency signal can be used for the excitation of the electron spins or magnetic nuclei for the relaxation photons to be collected and viewed. This would be better than just using the natural Earth’s magnetic field for increased resolution. Seems like another science fiction feat doesn’t it? But just look at the infrared image resolution of the Air Force’s AC130s 5 miles by thermally generated collisions of vibrating molecules without any external energy to excite it. If every valence electron or nucleus could be prodded to give off a photon in a similar fashion the landscape and people would be easily reconstructable into a 3 dimensional image, i.e. Earth penetrating tomography, an application of the ionospheric heaters.

Here is another brain teaser for you. Suppose you have two laser beams with perfect monochromatic (one frequency) and coherent (in phase) wave fronts. The beams each enter a cube made of two right angle prisms. The cube acts to combine the beams and project it onto a screen. One laser is moved Vi wavelength further from the cube than the other. If one laser is operational you will see a spot on the screen. But if they are both operational you will not. Why? Where does the energy go?

Why is this relevant? It demonstrates how to make pin point high energy waves anywhere on Earth via directed energy weapons with constructive interference of energy sources. All sorts of interesting effects can be done with these sorts of weapons. From being able to induce electronic machines to behave a certain way for example or to destroy their circuitry with high powered EM or microwave pulses. Destructive interference mode beams like in the laser example above create “scalar” waves that can travel tremendous distances with high intensity fields without burning the object of interest and reflect back with tremendous signal to noise ratio. More on this technique later.

Hyper Geeking - The concepts behind the most top secret Global Human Surveillance and Manipulation Systems

Synthetic Aperture RADAR and Beam Steering

All these concepts of directed energy are just rebranding marketing jargon for half a century old concept except with more power. Grids of transducers or antenna can shape the wave front by phase controlling the individual elements in the grid. The beam can be shaped wider by using lower frequencies or narrower by using high frequencies. It can be steered 360 degrees and its intensity whether in constructive or destructive modes can be controlled. The carrier signals in the beams can be modulated and shaped with ELF waves or heterodyned into high frequency side lobes. That is it behind the concepts of scalar scatter RADAR and directed energy systems.

Time Reverse Echo

Time reverse echo is a technique which can be used to send a signal back to the source even if the location of the source is undetermined due to multiple reflections. By using a phased array of microphones or antenna, the signal is collected and rebroadcast in the reverse time sequence the signal arrived. The phased array signal will bounce off all the same structures to combine and arrive at the source at the same time. If you amplify the return signal, you could potentially attack a signal source this way once it is identified from a signature.

This technique was written about in Scientific America and the principle would probably work in any medium. One could envision arrays of transducers on the ocean floor that could send out jamming sonar or high powered directed sonic waves that would deafen occupants in submarines listening to ocean sounds, shake the haul of the water vessel, create cavitations in the turbines to stall it, or act like a lithotripter and from a calculated energy propagation or resonance pattern of direct mechanical energy to locations within the water vehicle to cause structural or mechanical failure. I have never heard of any research in this area of directed pressure waves as a weapon, but maybe that's what has been causing so many whales to beach themselves.

Neuronal Amplification Technology

It was discovered back in 1920's that neurons could be influenced by electromagnetic induction. This technology has been held in the strictest top secret clearance government labs since then as it was developed. Only now are universities exploring it as a tool for curing depression and quelling the voices of schizophrenics (Yale, and University of Pennsylvania 37). The population was being prepped for the human efficacy trials even as far back as the 1960's. The television series, "The Outer Limits", features mind control, synthetic telepathy, and evil alien experimentation in almost every episode. It is simply easier for people to cope with the idea of evil aliens than high treason and being betrayed by the government of a country that they are ready to die for to uphold the ideals of the doctrines. The mass programming through popular media has continued to this day to seed the ideas that these high technology experiments of mind are conducted on behalf of a secret evil alien plot.

I have tried my best to avoid scientific details of these technologies that are often ungraspable by the general public. But at this time we must use the magnifying glass to examine the details to gamer clues to solve the world's biggest mystery. In this case, we need to scrutinize the psychophysics term of "choice". "Choice" occurs at the moment of neuron depolarization. It is the summation of synaptic potentials at the Hillock which determines whether a depolarization is warranted. There are a plethora of biological 37 1 must condemn the ignorance of these institutions for their biased research funded by government grants. They refuse to do the obvious with their test subjects and put those that claim microwave voices into superconducting chambers. They are paid to further the popular misunderstandings of induced illnesses. These are not institutions pursuing truth and light. Yale even put Delgado, the butcher, on their payroll for awhile.

38 As a reminder, the Hillock is the junction of the neuron that sums the action potentials and determines whether an axial depolarization will occur. It manifests itself as a nonlinear, sigmoidal function of action potentials from the synaptic connections including inhibitory as well as excitatory connections.

mechanisms which can be affected by electromagnetic forces that would alter this moment of “choice”. Affecting the neurotransmitter release, voltage potential across the membrane, the voltage sensitive organelle’s on the cell membrane responsible for conductance, or any ionic current flow in the biochemical mechanisms would achieve the desire neural influence. Remember that biochemical sensitizers can increase the electromagnetic influence in these mechanisms. The key to influencing a neuron and the entire informational structure of the mind is in the timing of the pulses of electromagnetic signals. Using just EEG probes is generally not enough to determine the timing. One needs to precisely time each neurons interaction with the next throughout the whole structure at the moment of choices. This is why electromagnetic energy doesn’t send everyone into seizures. It is only in the informational coherence of the signal specific to each individual that matters. Everyone has different axon lengths and hence timings of potential amplification of external electromagnetic influence. This is the reason that the ever growing database of TAMI must be maintained for maximal effectiveness on the world’s population. The synapse of a neuron has been analogized to Medusa’s head. It looks like a bunch of snakes extruding from the body of the neuron. Be careful not to stare directly at this science or you will be turned to stone, menticized like a zombie .

Neurotransmitter Release with specific frequencies and power levels

So, for arguments sake let’s say that the Air Force documents that I published in the appendix of this book are true and not meant to look like an accidental misclassification of a top secret weapon, and the Russian literature from their radio and electronic institutes are true too. Then neurotransmitter release occurs at specific power absorption and under certain frequencies. EEG heterodyning which causes neuron amplification could be done in this way.

Why are certain people chosen around the world for these endless tortures and extermination? Directed energy might work like the Stanford gamma knife. Only at the intersection of several power pulses does the neurotransmitter release occur. Perhaps certain individuals exceed an allowable sensitivity that is used for communicating with spies and need to be terminated for that reason. Perhaps everyone is monitored by a specific program and those that get classified as “psychics” become too sensitive and start picking up other people’s monitoring signals or programs and need to be terminated or psychotronically imprisoned for that reason.

It is only speculation what the rationale the traitors use to justify why they do this, but the illusion of freedom is crumbling. No illusion is 100% containable. Perhaps we are chosen on the Human Surveillance Global Grid as “one of the thousand points of light” to be human property of the DoD. If Congress were to order another independent investigation as has been done several times in the past, documents would be shredded and the cowards scrambling to the shadows. All the countries in the World need to stand up and say enough is enough. We will not allow you to pick us off one by one like cattle with your mind control weapons, manipulate our politics, and instigate wars, just so the machine can justify growth like a cancer over the planet.

39 This is a warning to other neural scientists. Those that study this field outside government labs often become zombified.

Many will have trouble accepting this basic research. But it does not detract from the truth of it. The educated will at least see the plausibility of it and if they have time investigate it further.

In a nut shell, direct the energy for the correct power level, time the pulses to the individual's cognitive model for synaptic transmission in the state dependent time sequence. Why is this concept so difficult for academics to understand and catch up with the aliens in their research?

Brain Reading Satellites and Ionospheric Heater Radar Fields

To give you an idea of power density and sensitivity of instruments, let's consider an FM radio station 20 miles away emitting 50 kilowatts of power. The receiver would only measure 2.1 x 10' 5 W/m 2 . That's what your car radio receives, demodulates, and amplifies for your listening pleasure. A one Terahertz 40 sub-millimeter wavelength radio antenna such as the 10-meter Heinrich Hertz Telescope 41 can view a typical radio source intensity of 10' 26 W/m 2 through the Earth's atmosphere. Do you still believe that RADAR brain resonances can not be read by satellite radio Telescopes?

How the electromagnetic sensing systems work together

Any ground based network like HAARP, GWEN, cell phone towers or the Russian WoodPeckers could also perform this feat of mind reading and control but not on a global scale. Only through the hundreds of spy and remote sensing satellites circling the earth and the tens of giant ionospheric phased array fields could you cover the entire globe with directed energy weapons and the subset class of mind control weapons. Imagine a steerable beam using a phased array of transmitters. This is similar to a mechanical method of using a mirror to deflect a laser beam like for laser light shows except it requires no moving parts. The intensity of the beam and all other participating satellite beams can converge on one spot or many spots simultaneously. This would be directed energy whose intensity is suppose to be enough to fry the electronics in anything not "RADIATION HARD" shielded. It might heat a human being but I don't believe the effects can be made immediately lethal by the thermal effects alone otherwise Saddam Hussein would not have complained about the biocommunication directed energy weapon torturing him in '92. He would have been fried like the rest of us. The torture just pisses people off if they can't kill you through menticide. Notice how we had to fight another war after we used it on him. The European parliament commented on the "non-lethal and mind control" weapons in general and stated they need to be banned because they only instigate wars and increase violence. The U.S. refuses to sign any treaties or acknowledge them to their own citizens. Welcome to the land of freedom, where you are free to believe all the lies your government tells you.

The grid of satellites in the hemisphere or the ionospheric ally reflected ground based miles wide antenna fields can be used in a time sliced manner or calculate an inverse Fourier Transform to attack many people at the same time without exposing too many others to the same intensity and frequencies. All the sensor systems are integrated to act as one single antenna or phased array. This allows the linked system to redirect energy from almost any angle to find a weakness in a shielded structure. Remember in the Malech Patent it said that frequencies between 10 Megahertz and 40 Gigahertz could be used for mind reading RADAR. That's a huge range and may extend even higher in the spectrum. Different frequencies have different ability to penetrate different materials and structures. Full spectrum RADAR sends a broadband ping across all frequencies like a flash of white light from a camera, and records all the returns across the area. Each person has a unique set of frequencies that they will absorb or return to the sensor arrays. This uniquely identifies everyone. Based on autocorrelation techniques, one can determine the optimal route and frequencies to be emitted by the phased arrays of antenna to optimally modulate the brain waves of the target. By finding the weaknesses of shielding or barriers by using any frequency or path, there would be few defenses against a nervous system disruptor that targets individuals. When Dan Rather was beaten up by directed energy weapon torture victims, they kept asking "What is the frequency Kenneth?" Everyone looks for the frequencies that the illegitimate CIA and DoD elements are using to torture them but it is nearly impossible to isolate them with a budget under a million dollars. Especially if they can use narrowband or broadband in such a large spectrum. The patent claims you can use pulsed or continuous wave. It would be easy to devise a frequency hopping scheme so that the pattern would not stand out or use deterministic broadband noise to diabolically hide the informational coherence. On top that, who would recognize brain waves modulated into a frequency hopping scheme? We are bathed in electromagnetic energy and I have yet to see a successfully built full spectrum anechoic EM chamber.

{diagram of penetrating shielding}

What other advantages do scalar waves have? They can penetrate materials to a greater degree since the electromagnetic energy doesn't get absorbed by the surfaces. Remember that electromagnetic waves reflect, scatter, get absorbed, or transmit through any material with these different parameters. A perfect scalar wave will no absorption in the material so more will get through allow one to penetrate to greater depths with high energy RADAR. Some refer to this as ground penetrating RADAR.

{diagram of frequency hopping brainwave encoded pulses}

Why is it difficult to detect "scalar" waves? They exist as pure field potential, some call this a gravity wave. Separating the sources of the interference requires a radio telescope with enough resolving power. There are other techniques that disinformers and Tesla junkies call "free energy" machines that try to extract the scalar wave energy in which the global surveillance system baths our planet. The extra energy the humans absorb is only supposed to increase the risk of cancer by 5%. You do the math of how many people the aliens are killing each year while watching and "protecting" us.

Here is a diagram of what a scalar wave looks like.

{diagram of a person within a destructive interference fringe of electromagnetic energy}

So the question that it raises is, “Do the energy sensors still pick up an object in an interference fringe?” With just one source alone they would. People might believe that you could penetrate solid objects this way if it didn’t interact with the object. If the scalar field can penetrate the shielding this would be a large distance quantum tunneling effect. This is an outstanding question for the scientific community for civilian defenses.

This is the basis of the top secret “scalar” weapons that have so many disinformation agents confusing people in the scientific community and are the basis for menticizing and silently assassinating people without easily being detected.

So I will leave the answer for you to discover it on your own. Get a laser and create a Michelson interferometer whose beams completely interferes with each other destructively. Place a photodiode in the path or a piece of film and see what happens. Now place a piece of thin black film at the perfectly destructive interference path and measure the intensity at different points behind it. That will answer whether the photons can penetrate a shield while the waves seem to be non-existence because of averaging. Stealthy isn’t is?

This is the paradox between waves and photons that baffle our intuitive senses. Interfacing TAMI 42

TAMI’s interface has three screens for the operator. The interface uses an eye tracker instead of a mouse, keyboard, or touch screen. TAMI’s operator needs only look at one spot on the screen for a second, then a drop down x-windows driven menu system allows the operator to traverse the options merely by looking at them. It turns out to be a very efficient way to operate the program. The developers experimented with voice recognition but this turned out to have some issues with covertness.

The eye tracking system is also necessary in light of the fact that an EEG cloned target would catch on more quickly what was happening to them if they were tapping their fingers all the time. Instead the extra-eye movement has already been covered-up by the strategic disinformation agents in the psychology community. I found a paper that said people who are schizophrenic have a very unusual extra rapid eye movement. Nicely done agents.

The left screen shows the operators brain frequency energy spectrum next to the targets and underneath is the combined. The center screen is used to select the tortures and other brain modulation scenarios. The third screen is work space and used for the psychic training games I described earlier or the truth detector brain printing analyzer program.

Stupid Alien Tricks

We covered a lot of science; but we had to get through it so that the doubt is removed that this weapons system exists, so we can move on to the more important implications of it on society. Let’s take a break for a moment and watch the fools entertain us.

“We’re going to crush your head and punch you in the stomach,” the agents say. I feel a pressure on my head and a nauseating wrenching in my gut. They tell me that their head hurts because they squeezed too hard. Where can you find so many dumb aliens that would hurt themselves to hurt others. I’ll give you one guess where mindless obedience comes from.

“Scalar” Weapons - Creating High Intensity ELF Magnetic and Electric Fields through Heterodyning High Frequency Directed Energy Weapons

This is a trick that seems quite astounding when you see it. That is the ability to direct enough energy at an extremely low frequency to spin a compass needle or create a voltage gradient seemly out of thin air. We intuitively think that there needs to be a near field physical object present to create the kind of magnetic or electric field strength to accomplish this but with the giant “ionospheric heaters” phased array fields this feat can be done. Puerto Rico’s and Brazil’s are very much within range and operational within the time frame that most ships and planes were lost in the Bermuda Triangle.

During the past century more than 50 ships and 20 aircraft sailed into oblivion in the area known as the Devil's Triangle, Bermuda Triangle, and Hoodoo Sea. The Satanic Cults or Naval Weapons testers have been operating for a long time conducting warfare exercises on their own ships and civilian crafts.

Here is how I believe the “scalar” directed energy weapons can spin a compass needle. During the heaviest attacks by the ghosts (I say sarcastically), they actually spun several compasses’ needles 360 degrees. They quit demonstrating this trick once I setup “Hall Effect” high sensitivity magnetic sensors around my house to record the fields 24 hours of day. I have video of a compass needle oscillating 45 degrees from true magnetic north at roughly 0.3 hertz for 10 minutes.

Let’s simplify the model to get a better grasp of it. If you created two beams from two beam steered phased array fields which bounce their very intense UHF beams off the ionosphere to intersect at an area the size of a small neighborhood block, you would have roughly 10 Gigawatts of energy to work with. You can only create tight beams with high frequencies. Raw low frequencies emitters create very wide beams. This is true for sound waves as well. But you can create a mixed or heterodyned intersection point that has very low frequencies if the high frequencies are exactly canceled out. This is how directional ultrasonic heterodyning sound projection is done to project a voice into one person’s head with sound waves without the person next to them hearing it 43 . So one high powered UHF beam contains the very low frequency information and the other just contains the same UHF carrier without the low frequency component but it is 180 degrees out of phase at the intersection point. What is left is an extremely low frequency, high intensity, magnetic and electric field that seems to come out of thin air and be directionless, i.e. a scalar field. But in fact is does have direction it just can’t easily be measured. If airplanes still used compasses rather than laser gyroscopes to fly, they could be disoriented and made to crash this way or ships to go off course. But the Bermuda Triangle seems to have quit taking lives once GPS and gyroscopic navigation instrument have been the common instrumentation method. Of course, GPS signals could be fooled by these kind of signal attacks too. Gyroscopes are immune to these directed energy attacks.

As a good college level physics problem, I will leave the math up to the reader. What is the power required to counter the Earth's natural magnetic field of 0.5 Gauss over a neighborhood block? Determine the low frequency power component of a high intensity UHF signal modulated with it. You will find that it falls well within the upper bounds of the so called ionospheric heater phased array high powered directed energy fields. For more advanced students, write your own Maxwell equation solver. You might want to use the numerical approximation method of finite differential time domain (FDTD) to do it. Run the simulations as described above to simulate scalar interferometry and convince yourself that it can be done at these power levels. Let's say that Col.

Thomas Bearden's gravity wave "free energy" device that collected 75 Watts of power was 100% efficient and used a one square foot gravity wave collection dish which is about the area of the head and body viewed from above. That means the average scalar scatter radar energy passing through a person is roughly 70 milliwatts per centimeter squared. That is exactly the range the Russian University papers describe altering neuronal group firings coincidentally. And for the professional physicist, estimate of how many Coulombs of gyro synchronized electrons are needed per unit area under 70 milliwatts per centimeter squared intensity RADAR beam to read the bioelectric field given a known noise background and a antenna field the size of HAARP. Next how many electrons need to be jostled to disable this surveillance technique and at what rate? You can see why plasma research is so popular at NASA and DARPA.

This is very good evidence that while satellites could perform the same trick, they would have difficulty generating that kind of power continuously from solar panels. This is extremely good news for the thousands that are tortured by these systems each year.

See the section on anti-psychotronic theory for more details. That means the killing signals have an exact direction that can be calculated by ray tracing your location to the ionosphere back to the 4 or 5 directed energy antenna fields, aka over the horizon radar. Those are the directions you want to block to weaken the nervous system disruptor or the surveillance system's secondary effects for "electrically sensitive" individuals.

Hiding the Scalar Killing Signals - i.e. Low Probability of Interception RADAR

Not only do the scalar waves look like they are coming out of nowhere, the carrier frequency can be what is called deterministic broadband noise 44 . Deterministic Broadband noise is a signal that appears just like noise across some bandwidth of a broad spectrum let's say HF-UHF for example. It is calculated from a uniform random distribution function. It is really just a deterministic, very complex function that looks just like true random noise. It will appear like regular noise to an amateur signal analyst looking at an oscilloscope or spectrum analyzer. The background noise levels will be just a bit higher and most amateur radio engineers do not keep measurements on the absolute background noise levels. This very complex broadband carrier wave will be cancelled out at the point of intersection of a scalar wave anyway. So this is how you can hide the carrier wave of the signal in noise and hide the direction and carrier wave frequencies of the signal with heterodyning destructive interference, i.e. scalar waves.

The reverse is true too. You can create a high frequency coherent signal at the intersection of directed energy wave fronts that would increase the bandwidth by the addition of the frequency sources. This too could be a combination of several deterministic broadband noise signal carriers. If one signal was intercepted, it would appear like noise. Only at the intersection of the many signal sources can the message be deciphered and will be automatically decoded through natures signal addition arriving at the correct time, phase, and amplitude. So the upper bounds of the bandwidth of the psychotronic attack signals would be the maximum frequency that can be bounced off the ionosphere at the angle from the three or four radar fields added together.

Scalar Interferometric Stealth RADAR - AKA Scatter Radar

How does stealthy scatter RADAR work in terms of low probability of interception?

You must remember two facts to understand “scalar 45 ” scatter RADAR. Photons reflect off of surfaces at 90 degree angles and they do not convert to other photon types during flight, except off course Doppler shifting due to relativistic effects of space dilation or contraction and reflecting off moving objects. Beaming two coherent, monochromatic photon streams at an object 180 degrees out of phase with very little difference in intensity will render the measurable energy at the intersecting path nearly 0 in terms of its combined electromagnetic field but the photons still exist and continue their flight path and reflection points which can be read accordingly through phase angle filtering or where the beams no longer intersect at a distance. This technique is especially useful if a tracking lock has occurred and the targets location is already known. Using time of flight filtering and Doppler shifting to update location adds to the precision of all low probability of detection RADAR imaging techniques. In the reverse mode of 44 You can find a patent on this technique in the patent office.

45 Scalar is the term used by misinformation agents to cause brand confusion of the weapons systems known as “Directed Energy” and are just destructive and constructive interference EM waveforms. Low probability of intercept RADAR techniques are part of “Scalar Weapons”.

constructive interference, all the intersecting beams would add their intensity together and maximum energy transference to objects would occur.

How does this relate to mind reading RADAR? The Russian’s first used scatter RADAR on the U.S. embassy in Moscow. The microwaves used to collect the brain resonance changes and electron spin resonances were scalars from phased arrays. The microwave energy was still detectable and far from a perfect scalar. But the measurable microwave energy could have been the influence signal necessary to effect brain wave modulation. Putting deflecting screens on the building actually increased the energy readings. This is because if you block one path of two intersecting beams, the full energy of one of the beams will be measured as well as confine the scalar energy that penetrated the walls then separated into their individual paths. Once the beam paths separate out of a scalar, the energy has more difficulty escaping back through the walls and windows, now with screens on them.

Synthetic Telepathy and Microwave Hearing Effect

There is actually a subtle difference between these two communication modes called synthetic telepathy and microwave hearing effect. The microwave hearing effect is thought to heat the brain slightly and cause a pressure wave to the inner ear according to Dr. Lin for the University of Illinois. Other microwave hearing devices claim that they stimulate the auditory nerves and a third claims it stimulates the brain cells in the auditory cortex using microwaves. This is the crossover point to synthetic telepathy.

The microwave hearing effect is often used during the brain mapping processes. Words are stimulated to be heard, and the automated mapping software records the whole brain patterns that are triggered by that word. So meanings of words are now mapped to the sounds. Synthetic telepathy uses both the direct stimulation of the audio cortex and word association brain areas for brain to brain communication. It is a far more accurate and efficient way to convey ideas and thoughts without misinterpretations. The pulsed microwave audiograms are heard as sound but usually needs background noise to be heard giving the illusion that the source of the background sound is the source of the pulsed audiogram transmission.

During my time as an unpaid quality assurance engineer for EEG heterodyning experimentation, I was able to achieve pure thought communication based on word meaning without internal voice or microwave hearing transmissions. It is creepy to be that close to someone else's mind. While speaking a different language throws off the other hive mind participants and the sentence completion software, it doesn't entirely prevent thought reading because words are mapped to concepts and meanings and those are conveyed if a good mind mapping has been achieved. (See The Promised Land for the Universal Translator concept).

A Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request as to the project's outcome met with denial on the part of the Air Force, on the grounds that disclosure "could reasonably be expected to cause damage to national security."

Though the Air Force denied this FOIA disclosure, such a contract's purpose is elaborated by the Air Force's "New World Vistas" 46 report: "It would also appear possible to create high fidelity speech in the human body, raising the possibility of covert suggestion and psychological direction . ... If a pulse stream is used, it should be possible to create an internal acoustic field in the 5-15 kilohertz range, which is audible.

Thus it may be possible to 'talk' to selected adversaries in a fashion that would be most disturbing to them."

Robert O. Becker, whose eminence was enough to have been twice nominated for the Nobel Prize in biological electromagnetic fields research, is explicit regarding clandestine use: "Such a device has obvious applications in covert operations designed to drive a target crazy with “voices” or deliver undetectable instructions to a programmed assassin.”

A microwave voice transmission non-lethal weapon is referenced in the thesaurus of the Center for Army Lessons Learned, which is a military instruction website (Vide infra for discussion of the analogously listed “Silent Sound” device.) 19

An article from a magazine that publishes notably non-mainstream views details microwave inner voice device demonstration by Dr. Dave Morgan at a 1993 classified Johns Hopkins sponsored non-lethal weapon conference, manufacture by Lockheed-Sanders, and used by the CIA, who call the process 'voice synthesis' or 'synthetic telepathy.'

Electromagnetic signatures of spoken words applied to the head at very low field levels (1 microTorr), affect word choice significantly along the emotional dimensions of the applied word.

Though inspired by microwave hearing, this report is not of direct hearing.

The author suggests that such an influence, even though weak, could shift the direction of group decisions in large populations, and has previously elaborated on the possibility of a less specific electromagnetic influence on populations.

Psychic Spying Through Animals

The Navy has since the 40’s or earlier tried to train dolphins as suicide bombers. Dolphins swim silently. Strapping a bomb to them and getting them to approach an enemy submarine or boat was the goal. They now have complete remote control of sharks to do this trick. However, one civilian researcher in EEG cloning amplified someone else’s brain waves using magnetic coils to inject it into his brain. He could see a flash light bright spot in his vision where the cloned subject was looking into a bright spot light moving around. He felt really agitated during this experiment. He said he wouldn’t try it again. He started doing research with EEG heterodyning with dolphins. That is all I could track as to his progress.

Now interestingly. Neuroscience magazine reported that with electrodes implanted in a cat’s brain they could decipher the visual cortex and display the cat’s vision on a computer screen. It seems like a logical inference that you could then use animals’ visual cortex to do spying too. What would it be like to try and map other species’ minds onto a human, I wonder? Maybe we would all become vegetarians if we tried it and we could feel what other species feel. If not, we can still apply a consciousness metric to every species including fetuses. We can then make an informed decision about the line we draw and what we can kill without remorse.

The death doctors as they are called, performed an experiment using an implanted cyberlink from a child to an ape. The experiment was to see if the ape would recognize the little child’s mind and be calm when the child was put into the cage. The experiment failed and the child was killed immediately 47 . Clearly, the DoD funded death doctors were very interested in controlling animals and viewing through their mind or eyes with this line of research.

Star Wars and SPAWAR

The division within the government that strategizes about space conflict is called SPAWAR, shortened from space wars. What many call science fiction, I know to be current science fact.

It took the top DARPA scientists almost five years to figure out what the Russians were doing to the U.S. embassy in Moscow. Clearly the best scientists do not work for the Department of Defense.

Earlier I described the disinformation campaign on destructive interference fringes called “scalar” waves by the weapons marketing division. Keep this in mind.

Let’s perform some thought experiments in the tradition of Einstein. So here is the problem rephrased. If two wave fronts destructively interfere at the point of measurement, how can you separate the photons such that you can determine whether a destructive fringe is being measured from two interfering wave forms? With normal measuring equipment, it would read zero in both the electric and magnetic fields.

A pinhole camera would block all but one path of the rays and reveal a single source of energy. A convex mirror would also separate the signal and amplify the very, very small angle of incidence. These are “scalar” detectors or scatter radar detectors. I leave the specifics of engineering one up to the reader.

The other way to look at the problem is to view the sources from a radio telescope to get the resolution necessary to separate the very separate sources of the energy and pinpoint them. It would take a very large dish to do this. This makes you wonder if this is why we invest so much as a country into looking at the stars. Using pinhole photography techniques to resolve scalar energy, can be difficult. The problem is that the frequency can be changed and hence the alignment of the holes would change. But that is the basic idea of how to turn an interference fringe (scalar gravity wave) into “free energy”.

All the lies and propaganda, makes one wonder if that perhaps through psychological warfare, i.e. propaganda, we have been persuaded to fight for the dark side of the force in the delusion that we are fighting for democracy and freedom.

Beauty is in the Eye of the Beholder

I know that I am probably going into too much detail about the CIA mind control experiments, but one that I found particularly interesting is that they can determine what images and forms you find attractive. They can show you a sequence of people and determine through some brain wave response who you found attractive. This could be useful if they were to use an agent to try and extract information or gain confidence through intimacy. On a funny note, I was told that one characteristic that CIA field agents usual have is below average looks. The psychological advantage is that most people don't remember or stare at average or below average looking people and hence it makes them more covert in their missions. The truth isn't nearly quite as glamorous as James Bond or Mission Impossible.

One of the more advanced microwave hearing effect tricks

Phase angle segmentation of voice throwing

Imagine a bunch of soldiers surrounding a speaker listening to static, barely able to pick up their orders which are cutting in and out, garbled intentionally by the electronic warfare jammers. Every listener will have a different angle relative to the speaker. It is possible to make every person hear different commands coming through the speaker. Several psychic soldiers could get them to argue over what was heard or get them all to do the wrong things in a disorganized fashion. How is this done?

I was demonstrated this technique for an entire day and had many different theories how it was done at the time but I am certain that the ventriloquism and bar trick is done this way…

So an amusing spy game that was played with me, as a nice distraction from the torture, was an encoded message, one like I have never seen. I studied how to crack DES and other encryption technologies but had no real experience in the hacking techniques of the human mind before my ordeal. In secret government laboratories, the encryption keys are changed as frequently as can be cracked by the best decryption machines they have. The human brain can not change its encryption, so once decoded your brain is forever part of the TAMI database and network. The mind has no firewall .

Using any noise source, specific frequencies from that source can be amplified perceptually. So, encoding a voice pattern into a noise source is simply a matter of timing of the neuronal pathways that amplify the perception of the projected voice frequencies.

48 "The Mind Has No Firewall" - US Army War College

The Matrix Deciphered

In my research into FBI cases and interviews with government test subjects, it is obvious that any noise source can be used and in some cases not even necessary depending on the individual's brain amplification. I have read testimony that describes how refrigerators or even Rice Krispies would talk to test subjects. In my demonstration, I had a rain maker/white noise generator running. It had a single speaker.

The message was complex, patterned, and repetitive. I heard a sequence of four words which rotated through 10 other sets after each phrase was uttered in a poetic style. The phrases were, "Talk to your governor". "I'll bring you coffee". "I am the secretary." "Now, raise a caucus". "Dukakis went to Harvard". "Join their cosmology department". This game got boring to me since I was not a spy and turned off by the cloak and dagger bullshit. I would walk away. At about 10 feet away from the noise source, the message became “Get back here!” It was all computer generated. Later they explained the cloak and dagger game. The basic gist of the message was that the secretary of defense ordered these projects. All you can do is complain to your governor. Michael Dukakis maybe has a chance at running for president, but people who are familiar with the Kennedy assassination conspiracy and the mind control angle also know that Dukakis’s run for presidency was interfered with using these directed energy mind control weapons. So the message is that it is even futile trying to change the government. At the time, I didn’t understand the message to join the cosmology department completely. It is that this is all done by Star Wars technology, and a clue that stealth RADAR uses scalar waves which can only be resolved using a radio telescope.

By rotating the sound source or by walking around the device, I would hear a different set of the 4 word messages depending on my head orientation to the sound source. The real message could only be heard by walking from left to right after one word was uttered. There were 4 segmented phase angles with a different set of words that would be played in each. But the real messages could only be deciphered if you followed the word train in order through each segmented phase angle. The real message was encoded in a few of the diagonals of each set of word trains. This was just a spy game and the messages are irrelevant. It was only a test.

Now let’s look at the science behind the trick. Close your eyes and listen to your environment. You can pinpoint the location and direction of all the sounds. How does your brain know where sound is coming from? Bats are exceptionally good at locating objects based on sound. We have a type of sonar built into our auditory cortex. Using just tonal quality and the difference of timing of the sound waves hitting each ear drum, our brain creates a model of what and where the sound source is. Modem surround sound systems use this science to create virtual speakers and the perception of being immersed into a movie from all directions.

By analyzing the brain waves associated with hearing and integrated at the base of the brain, one can determine the perceived sound direction of the source. The BAER auditory test using traditional EEG probes placed behind the ear can pick up these neural pathways. From signal analysis, the phase angle of the sound sources is determined and segmented into groups. The predominant sound source is easily identified and depending on which phase angle segmentation is classified, a different computer generated voice message is modulated into the neuronal amplification, and thereby the perception of frequencies. This is the crux of the ventriloquism act played on so many people.

Illusions of Mind

Into the second week of my torture, I was told that most “projects” are terminated with car crashes or heart attacks. Although the microwave hearing effect is debilitating and very distracting, I actually consider myself lucky to have been told all the experiments before they happened or explained how they were accomplished while they were performing them. Most “projects” are never told and left confused or dead.

After surviving the constant remote heart attack attempts, I had to be vigilant of the psychic assassination attempts through car crashes. There are the bland methods for automobile assassinations such as hypnotizing the subject to run red lights, suddenly jerking their arms to steer off the road, putting them to sleep, or blinding their minds eye to see an obstruction or approaching object, etc.

But the more extreme and visually exciting method was discussed by Dr. Becker back in the early 1970’s on the news. He said that this technology could be used to create visual perception errors to make airplane pilots crash, etc. JFK Junior’s demise could have been caused in this way and assassinated l ik e his father by the same shadow government. Princess Dianna’s demise could also have been cause by these weapons. Or maybe they were natural perceptional errors and misjudgments.

In any case, I was shown how, during night driving, lights from oncoming cars, the road markers, or distant houses could be made to move around and appear in the foreground then in the background again. I was told this is accomplished by the psychic attacker synchronizing with the hosts visual cortex strongly while they are in a dark room. They then shine a pinpoint flashlight and move it around in their own, the attacker’s, eyes.

What happens is the brain signals from the attacker are sent to the target and the targets visual cortex tries to make sense of the two competing signals, his own from the optic nerves and the attackers. If you were able to see the secret message on the cover of this book, then you get a good sense how the brain will extract depth information from higher order patterns and can mismatch the data from each eye. You have taken the first step to being a psychic soldier. Silly isn’t it? But effective.

So I gave them some improvements on their techniques because according to my research they haven’t changed their methods much in thirty years. I despise inefficiency, waste, lack of creativity, and slow progress. Clearly I don’t have a future in government. I suggested that they use a slide or hologram instead of a pinpoint light on their side. The hologram or slide could be images such as angels’ or daemons’ faces. I postulate that the target would see the subtle image in the light sources that his/her brain integrates with the attackers. This would give the very spooky and eerie illusion that souls or ghosts were passing by on the road for each point source of light. The effect should be similar to that demonstrated in the movie “Poltergeist”. Maybe they already thought of this. They seemed excited about the possibilities to try it on their next project after I was dead.

{ sketch of poltergeist faces in car headlights or road markers. Show image of two overlaid views, one from attacker other from target}

Stupid Alien Tricks

On day three of my brain napping, the aliens demonstrated some hilarious visual manipulations. They could put pixilated shadow animations in my peripheral vision of a running man. They could create subtle shadow illusions of children in the road. While it could make someone swerve who is unfamiliar with the technology, it was fascinating and amusing to see it done. I believe a horror movie was just released that demonstrates the “ghost” children who make people crash their cars. There are no ghost, just shadow government testing of EEG heterodyning weapons. The visual cortex illusions seem to only work in dim lighting which is intuitively what you would expect. Less sensory stimuli and information there is, the more easily external signals can influence the neurons.

I interviewed psychic war test subjects that were fully convinced that they saw a wall open up into a war room with uniformed soldiers and other objects materialize. My visual cortex was never mapped that well, but you can see that fully conjured images as real as what is presented from your optic nerves can be induced in subjects. The technology seems to have gotten better since the 70’s when people just saw shadowy ghost like figures in these “hauntings”.

The Ghost in the Machine

Electronic warfare capabilities have become so refined that all electronic devices can be made to malfunction. The military directed energy labs are perfecting ways to induce electromagnetic signals so precisely as to reprogram your computer or more easily influence your keyboard and mouse. If they can do it to a brain, they can do it with other electronics. Almost all targeted individuals report these kinds of tests of electronic control. I will save my amazing accounts for the movie of real footage in order for you to see and believe. These capabilities far exceed the older weapons of EMP 49 and HERE 50 that could stall your car or fry your data drives. The military gremlins are wreaking havoc in their electronic warfare exercises on the unsuspecting citizens. See the appendix for the Air Force Directed Energy “truly futuristic” weapons description.

Perhaps EMP and HERF weapons could be tested on the ionospheric heaters and their computing facilities to see if a minor disruption would cure thousands of people of pain and “mental illness” worldwide.

Another perspective

Abstractly, think about the Earth’s magnetic field as an ocean. If you move through it you will create an electromagnetic wake which can be detected since all charged particles have a resistance to motion when bathed in a magnetic pool except if moving along the lines of the field.

There is an effect called Electron Cyclotronic Current Driving 51 . It is usually only studied under extreme conditions in high energy physics laboratories. But it may be a possible mechanism of the current induced in the ionic channels of the neuron. Microwaves and a magnetic field is all you need.

Lens Effect from Ionosphere Signal Bouncing

The Earth’s Ionosphere is spherical. This allows a phased array beam to be bounced off the ionosphere and focused on a point on the Earth. The total internal reflection only occurs at a certain angle from the source. Imagine you are in a swimming pool underwater looking up. You see people standing above on the edge of the pool but when you look further away you see the surface of the water acting like a mirror and reflecting the interior of the pool. This is exactly how the Earth’s atmosphere acts with vacuum outside in space or at the ionospheric layers. So now imagine that the pool that you are in is somehow curved into a spheroid. When you look out of the pool people will look smaller and the mirror portion will act like a telescope amplifying small points inside the pool depending on your angle of view. The reflection amplification is due to the curvature and the shrinking of the outside view is due to refraction effects. Do you get the picture yet? Satellites would have the reverse effect. The atmosphere would act like an amplifying lens at very high frequencies making the Earth act like it is under a microscope but this refraction affect is minimal at less than visible light spectrum.

So these over the horizon Radar systems, which are mostly used for viewing and tracking people, have their radar signals bounced off of the Earth’s atmosphere in a donut like circle for the strongest energy areas due to the phenomena known as total internal reflection. The energy that does not hit the vacuum of space or different layers of the ionosphere at the angle of “total internal reflection ” will have a much larger percent of its energy dissipated into space. Here’s what it looks like:

Now, more importantly in order to find a point on Earth where people might find sanctuary from the US virtual HELL, we only need to calculate the angles of total internal reflection based on the index of refraction for various radar wavelengths to see the range in which they are active. The US and NATO allies have 15 or more giant antenna fields covering most of the world so intersection of all the active areas shows us that it is almost a total and complete global surveillance system. Interesting to note though, is that the intersection of HAARP, the Brazilian, and Puerto Rico's radar fields and a couple other active fields all intersect over the US and then cover the rest of the hemisphere. Even South Wales ionospheric heater radar field can observe through the radar magnifying glass US citizens. DoD into ionopsheric conditions and cold plasma. Every time there is a wake or anomaly in the smooth surface of the ionosphere due to a hurricane or some other event, the lens is disrupted and victims in that part of the world find relief from the killing and torture signals. After the last two major hurricanes in the US, I received reports from victims that they "escaped" the torture during the hurricane. They of course came to the conclusion that the hurricane must have knocked out the power stations which ran the directed energy weapon. They were unaware of the ionosphere lens effect. This shows a defense weakness both in the continental ballistic missile surveillance system and the psychotronic torture system, which are one and the same.

Eastern Medicine

There is a technique practiced called "Healing Hands" where practitioners move their hands without touching the patient all over the person's body who is experiencing discomfort and somehow it makes them feel better. There is a psychological component to this but since the ionospheric radar signals are so powerful many people around the world feel the effects even if they aren't directly targeted for torture. The static electricity fields created between the healer and the patient are moved and the body electrical resonances and electronic spin alignments are altered, the person feels better while the practitioner is doing it. Amazing how much human suffering these military surveillance systems are causing and have caused. Even the magnetic jewelry craze and negative ion generators that make people feel better can be linked to these Radar signals and human surveillance techniques of bioelectric field modulation and reading. The cover story of ionospheric heating and observation of meteors is almost 99% bullshit in terms of the true purpose of these systems.

More Psychic Phenomena Explained

I, like most people, never understood the voodoo of quartz crystals that the "new age" crowd was into. Some of the healing effects are of course due to the placebo effect and power of suggestion. But, so many people are affected by the scatter radar energy which has been around since 1960, that people have discovered things that make they feel better without knowing the exact underlying physics and biology. Negative ion generators are now standard in fans. Magnetic jewelry has become quite popular because of its lessening of pain effects. And quartz crystals work for some people. It turns out that quartz disrupts scatter radar fields due to the wavelengths at which they operate. So much pain and suffering throughout the world can be explained by the electromagnetic pollution of these stealthy scalar scatter radar systems tracking life forms.
